Battlefield Deaths Again Mounting

SAIGON (AP) —The total of U.S. battlefield deaths in Vietnam climbed again last week to 98, the highest in six weeks, and the number of Vietnamese dead also went up, to 394 government troops and 2,552 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

The tolls in the weekly casualty report today brought the total killed in action in the 20 months since the Paris peace talks started to 17,191 Americans and 271,791 Vietnamese, including 27,013 government troops and 244,778 of the enemy.

The government's death toll last week was its highest in three weeks, while the enemy toll was the lowest in more than a month.

Allied spokesmen attributed the rise in casualties—after a low period of fighting during the New Year's cease-fires—to a significant increase in enemy activity, particularly south of Da Nang.

The 98 battlefield deaths were 33 more than the 65 reported in the Dec. 28-Jan. 3 period.

The U.S. Command also repoted 720 Americans wounded in action last week, the largest number since the week of Dec. 7-13. This raised to 263,723 the number of Americans reported wounded in the war.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced that 1,024 government troops were wounded in action last week, the highest number in three weeks.

The 17,191 U.S. troops killed since May 13, 1968, when the peace negotiations began in Paris, represent 42 per cent of the total 40,142 Americans reported killed in more than nine years of war.

The 27,013 South Vietnamese killed since the peace talks began represent 28 per cent of their reported total losses of 98,893 men. The enemy toll reported for the last 20 months is 42 per cent of the total reported killed since Jan. 1, 1961.

The U.S. Command also announced that three American helicopters were shot down Wednesday, with three U.S. soldiers killed and eight wounded. One went down in the A Shau Valley, the major enemy staging area on the Laotian border, and it was the second helicopter shot down there in three days.

In the biggest ground action announced today, about 100 North Vietnamese infantrymen and sappers moving behind a 100-round mortar barrage attacked a base 70 miles northwest of Saigon manned by South Vietnamese paratroopers and troops of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment.

The South Vietnamese said several of the sappers broke through the perimeter of the base but were killed or driven out. The defenders killed 29 North Vietnamese, headquarters said, while allied casualties were one American killed and seven Americans and eight South Vietnamese wounded.

In Paris, the United Press International reported the United States said today North Vietnam and the Viet Cong have blocked any serious negotiating at the Vietnam peace talks for nearly a year. The American delegation again asked for secret talks.

U.S. Ambassador Philip C Habib was the only delegation leader to show up at today's 50th meeting of the peace talks. The conference will be a year old Sunday.

North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy again boycotted the meeting in protest of what he says is President Nixon's downgrading of the conference by failure to replace Henry Cabot Lodge, who resigned effective Dec. 8.

Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong delegation leader, was ill and Pham Dang Lam, head of the South Vietnamese government team, was in Saigon for consultations.

The United States has several times proposed that the size of delegations at the talks be reduced or restricted to delegation heads and three aids and halt the practice of released texts of prepared statements.

Habib said he also was proposing improved treatment of Allied prisoners of war by the North Vietnamese.

"We continue to seek treatment for our men in accordance with normal standards and international agreements," he said. "There is no defensible reason for them (the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong) to refuse to change their attitude and their actions with regard to the prisoners."

It was Jan. 18, 1969, that the four-way negotiations opened at the former Hotel Majestic in an effort to end the war in Vietnam. Talks aimed at starting the negotiations had been going on since May 10, 1968.

Nigerians Begin Biafra Peace Talks

(By The Combined Wireservices)

LAGOS — A five-man Biafran peace delegation began talks with federal government leaders today on a final armistice in the Nigerian civil war.

Sir Louis Mbanefo, who served as chief justice of Biafra during its 2½ year secession from the Lagos government, headed the team which arrived in the federal capital early today.

Government sources said the Biafrans received assurances at the outset of the talks that all Ibo tribesmen of the former rebel state would be treated humanely.

Nigeria began withdrawing its victorious troops from the battlefield Wednesday and announced it would accept selected foreign aid for starving Biafrans from nations who did not support the rebels.

The ban affects the governments of France, Portugal, Rhodesia, and South Africa as well as such groups as Caritas, the Roman Catholic relief agency; Joint Church Aid, grouping a number of agencies; Canaire-lief of Canada and the French and Nordic Red Cross.

The government said nothing about the four black African governments that recognized Biafra as an independent state: Zambia, Tanzania, Gabon and the Ivory Coast.

The government also put the persona non grata tag on "all foreign relief workers who operated illegally in the secessionist enclave" and said they would not be permitted in Nigeria. Presumably this means expulsion for those still in what was Biafra.

Lord Hunt, who headed the British team that conquered Mt. Everest, arrived in Lagos today with a committee to work out plans for British relief. His government has allocated $12 million for aid and 10 tons of relief supplies are waiting in London for airlift to Nigeria. The Nigerians first refused to allow them to be brought in on military planes, then submitted a request for extra medical supplies to be included in a civilian airlift.

The U.S. State Department announced that Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, the Nigerian chief of state, told a U.S. envoy that the Nigerian government will not hesitate to call on the United States for assistance. The department said the Nigerian leader expressed warm appreciation to the U.S. diplomat, Assistant Secretary of State David Newsom, for the aid offered by the United States.

"There is no problem of delay or refusal to accept relief," said one official in Washington. 'It is just a question of working out practical detail."

The official said enough food is on hand in what was Biafra to feed the population for more than a month. The problem now, he said, is to find out how many people need relief and how to reach them.

He added that transportation and medicine rather than food are most needed at this point.

A Red Cross official in Lagos said that trucks and ships—not planes—are needed to get relief supplies to the refugees. P. C. Stanissis, liaison delegate of the League of Red Cross Societies, cabled Geneva that 60 trucks, 40 Land Rovers and maritime transport including a small ship of 500-700 tons are urgently needed.

He estimated that about 1.5 million refugees "in need of full food ration" will emerge from the bush.

Another Red Cross report, received in Canada, said that an estimated 234,000 more refugees had come under the care of the Nigerian Red Cross in the last few days. These were in addition to 500,000 refugees in areas conquered earlier by Nigerian forces. The report said the Red Cross now has relief teams operating in almost all areas formerly held by the rebels.

Rosendale Trustees to Handle Mayor's Job Until Vote

By TIM SCHUSTER

ROSENDALE

The two village trustees of Rosendale have decided to weather the next two months without the services of a mayor.

Trustees Kenneth Smith and William Ritter annonuced at Wednesday's Village Board meeting that they would handle village affairs until the March elections and April inauguration of a new mayor.

Village Republicans at the meeting Wednesday night told The Freeman that no one had as yet been designated to bear the party's standard for mayor. Republican trustee Smith has another year to serve in that capacity, and had previously remarked that he was not interested in running for mayor.

Joseph Reid, former Rosendale mayor, was present and said that he has not yet announced intentions of running for the office he once held, but first wanted a detailed account of the Curran administration's books.

Reid intimated that there might not be enough money left to pay the balance of the year's accounts, and brought up the supposed disappearance from the books of an $18,000 grant from HUD for the village water system.

No one present at the meeting could account for the $18,000. Trustee Smith said that ex-mayor Curran still possessed most of the village's books and had 15 days after resigning until he had to turn them over to the Village Board.

Ritter announced, "Curran left office without giving us any notice. We didn't find out about it until last Wednesday. If he had any heart for the village, he should have sat down with the board before the announcement and discussed it."

Smith said, "I agree for the most part. This should have been talked over first. He left too fast."

The board made two moves designed to help straighten out the disoriented state of affairs. Attorney Daniel J. McMonagle of Tillson was appointed to handle the village's legal work on a fee basis until the new administration takes over in April.

Both trustees said that they were in the dark concerning many of the village's affairs. After several residents had proposed questions to the board which could not be answered, primarily concerned with the fiscal state of affairs, Agnes Smith, wife of the trustee, told the audience that she thought "out of decency we should give them 15 days to find out what is going on in the records" before badgering them.

In other business, an answer from the State Transportation Department's Kingston office in regard to a letter asking for reimbursement for snow removal from Main Street was read.

The $800 bill from Servidone for emergency clearing of Main Street in lieu of state plows was referred to the district office in Poughkeepsie, with the explanation that the Kingston office disclaimed authority to approve or disapprove such claims.

A letter from Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., in response to former Mayor Curran's asking for action in building a new post office, said that he shared concern, and would contact the village as soon as he heard from the Congressional Liaison Office of the Post Office Department.

The board decided to table the matter of awarding bids on water meters until the new mayor has taken office.

A resolution calling for a tax sale of delinquent properties listed 10:30 a.m., March 14, as the date of the sale.

Grievance Day was announced as Feb. 17, from 6-10 p.m., when citizens could have their assessment pleas heard at the firehouse.

Douglas Case May Go to Jury; Defense, Prosecution Sum Up

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

The murder-arson case of Jimmie Boston Douglas, 27, accused slayer of 61-year-old Mrs. Theresa Carpino at the Circle Bar and Restaurant she operated on upper Broadway, is expected to go to the jury of eight men and four women late today in County Court.

The seventh day of trial ended Wednesday afternoon when both sides rested their cases before Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Judge Mino was scheduled to deliver his charge to the jury after District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca and Harry Gold, defense attorney, completed their summations during which they noted important testimony that was offered by witnesses.

Court was adjourned yesterday at 3:45 p.m. and Judge Mino admonished the jurors not to discuss the case between themselves or with anybody else and to keep their minds open. The trial resumed at 10 a.m. today.

After the jury filed out of the courtroom, Gold renewed motions for the defendant, who is accused of strangling Mrs. Carpino and setting fire to papers and books alongside her body in the back of the tavern on the early morning of July 1.

Gold asked the court to dismiss the second count of the indictment charging Douglas with arson in the first degree. Defense counsel argued that the People had failed to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that there was any intent to burn the building. He noted that the defendant still insists he was innocent of the crime.

Torraca contended that the fire was set to destroy the body and the building.

Defense counsel also moved the court to dismiss the first count of the indictment that accused Douglas of murder in the death of the tavern operator. Again he contended the prosecution had failed to show beyond a reasonable doubt intent to kill.

Judge Mino reserved decision on the motion involving the arson count and denied defense motion to throw out the first count charging murder.

The defendant heard his father, John Douglas, a Bennettville, S. C. painter, testify in his behalf yesterday afternoon. The witness recalled a visit made by his son and wife and Alonzer Trammell to his home in the south on July 4. The witness testified that Trammell told him that he (Trammell) had murdered someone.

Asked by Gold what impression he had of Trammell, the elder Douglas said, "he seemed like a wild man to me."

Under cross-examination by Torraca, the witness said that at no time did his son "admit" to him that he had killed someone, but the defendant didn't deny it either. The defendant's father said he had no pistol at his home. The defendant had previously testified that he found a pistol in his parent's home and tried to shoot himself but was caught by his mother.

Mrs. Mary Green, who said she was a friend of Trammell, testified after she was called by Torraca that Trammell did not call her on the telephone the day after Mrs. Carpino was strangled to death.

Local Leaders Observe Birthday of Dr. King

KINGSTON

Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., have joined a host of local, state and national leaders in honoring the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., civil rights leader, who would have marked his 41st birthday today.

Dr. King was assassinated in Memphis, Tenn., on April 4, 1968.

Memorial services will be held tonight at 8 p. m. at the Progressive Baptist Church on 8 Hone Street. Music will be provided by the combined choirs of area churches with participation by clergymen of all faiths. The public is invited. The Rev. Jessie W. Kitchen, pastor of the New Central Baptist Church, will be the principal speaker.

More than 50,000 persons attended Dr. King's funeral in Atlanta, Ga., in 1968, including Irving Bell, who was then the executive director of Kingston's Human Relations Commission, and Everette Hodge, the president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Mayor Koenig, in declaring today as the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Day in Kingston, urged that "all men of all colors and creed dedicate their lives to the cause which Martin Luther King Jr. so nobly advanced."

Congressman Fish said, "Our founding fathers had a dream—a dream of equality, of justice and a chance to pursue happiness. All of us as citizens of the United States are involved in working towards the realization of this dream.

"Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in our lifetime eloquently represented this dream. On Jan. 15, Americans honor his memory—a giant of a man, an apostle of non-violent means to realize the American dream."

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller joined governors in Maine and Rhode Island in declaring today "Dr. Martin Luther King Day." Schools have been closed in New York City and Poughkeepsie. Memorial services are planned in Kingston city schools.

The official inauguration of the Martin Luther King Memorial Center, a projected cultural and spiritual gathering place for the nation's Negroes, was planned in Atlanta today. The center will be built near Dr. King's new crypt and the Ebenezer Baptist Church where he served as co-pastor.

Congressman Fish, in conclusion, said, "All of us inherit Dr. King's legacy. Our conscience was touched by this man's life — a conscience neither black nor white but American."

Rifton Water--Must Tap $80,000

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

PORT EWEN

A study for the formation of a Rifton Water District indicates the project to provide a public water system for residents of that area will cost about $80,000, part of which could be offset by a federal grant.

Progress of the study was reported at Wednesday night's meeting of Esopus Town Board at Port Ewen. Supervisor George H. Freer said he has made application for a Farm Home Administration loan of half of the cost which if approved can be accepted or refused by the residents of the proposed water district. Freer has also applied for an outright grant for the project for 50 per cent of the cost.

A public meeting for residents of the affected area has been scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 28 at 7:30 p. m. in Rifton Firehouse at which time Freer will outline the entire program for the formation of a Rifton Water District. Maps of the proposed district will be shown. The study was authorized when about 35 residents of the Pine and Maple Street area reported that their wells were polluted and another source of water was needed.

If a water district is established, only those within the district boundaries will bear the cost of the project.

Supervisor Freer said he is still pursuing a course of action to have the Penn Central Railroad clean up its right-of-way in West Park of debris left from a derailment more than a year ago. The railroad informed the town that they would clear up the debris when it is practical. Town Attorney Louis Klein was asked to contact the State Public Service Commission on the matter and also to further communicate with the railroad advising them of violations of town law created by the condition.

The Rev. Daniel Ogden, chairman of Ross Park Commission reported that PBS Construction Corp., Kingston, which is working on the reconstruction program at the park assured him that work will be complete for a spring opening. He also noted that he will attempt to secure representatives for expansion into a Town Recreation Committee.

On a request of the Department of Social Services the Town Board raised the burial fee of indigent persons from $250 to $400.

The board declared the 100-old former Ulster Park Reformed Church building an historic site on request of the Klyne-Esopus Conservation Committee. It has been proposed that the brick structure be established as a museum for church articles and local lore.

15 Dutchess Arrests

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Town Police arrested 15 persons including eight juveniles Wednesday night and charged them in connection with a break in at the Marist College gymnasium earlier this month.

Police said six of those arrested face felony charges of burglary. They said the burglary netted a large amount of equipment.

They are Jerry O. Carter, 20; James C. Flowers, 18; Donald R. McKinney, 18; Louis Thomas, 17; David L. Keith, 17, and Felton Slater, 16, all of Poughkeepsie.

Joseph M. Schrotz 18, of Hyde Park, faces a misdemeanor conspiracy charge, police said.

The seven were released in the custody of their parents for a court appearance Jan. 21. The eight juveniles were turned over to Family Court.

Change in Date

The Childrens' Home meeting reported in Wednesday's Freeman as taking place Jan. 29 will take place Tuesday, Jan. 27.

Reservations for the meeting will be accepted prior to Jan. 20.

Wappingers Falls Customer Interrupts an Armed Robbery

WAPPINGERS FALLS

A customer who interrupted an armed robbery of a woman proprietor of a grocery store on Route 9D, this village, at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, was credited with probably saving the woman's life, according to Fishkill State Police.

Troopers said Mrs. Lila Pappas was in the store when a masked man with a gun entered and demanded money. A struggle ensued and was in progress when William Rozner entered to make a purchase. He heard cries for help and then saw Mrs. Pappas being attacked by the robber.

Rozner pulled the man away and as he did he was grabbed by an accomplice who entered the store. The customer managed to fight off both men and chase them to an awaiting car. Mrs. Pappas received bruises.

An extensive search was conducted by troopers in charge of Capt. W. S. Steckel and Sr. Investigator J. J. Conway, but no trace of the pair was found. Investigation is continuing.

The armed man took a long-handled knife from the store as he fled.

New Medicaid Directive

Fitzsimmons Makes a Protest

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Calling the state's new directive in which Medicaid patients share the cost of medical services "an administrative monstrosity and a gross disservice to the medical indigent," Ulster County Social Services Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons is making his protest official.

In Albany today for the two-day annual winter meeting of the New York Public Welfare Association, Fitzsimmons is speaking out against the manner in which the new system is being administered. He states that while he does not condemn the validity of the principle of patient cost sharing, the plan is a confusing one which "can only result in reducing the availability and quality of medical care and services to those who need it most."

Fitzsimmons has also made his views known in a letter sent to the Medicaid area office director John Bach of New York City. Before leaving for Albany he stated he would seek out the opinions of other welfare commissioners throughout the state.

Patient cost sharing will begin in Ulster County Feb. 1. This means that anyone found eligible under Medicaid who has an income above the public assistance level must pay 20 per cent of the cost of medical care other than in-patient care in a medical institution.

Fitzsimmons, in his letter states, "While Ulster County must comply with the Social Services law and will execute its provisions to the fullest extent, the County Social Services Department views the enforcement of these provisions with dismay.

In addition to the confusion indicated in the plan, Fitzsimmons said that the "cost of administering alone, patient cost sharing in terms of and the certification of reducing the overall cost of eligibility form appears to Medicaid must be regarded as either mean the hiring of many exhorbitant. The awkward and additional staff members or the cumbersome planned use of complete breakdown of the patient medical record form Medicaid Program.

Baltz Resigns Library Post

KINGSTON

Chester A. Baltz Jr. resigned as trustee of the Kingston Area Library at Wednesday evening's annual meeting.

He was president of the board of trustees, having served for three 3-year terms.

Mrs. Ellsworth Johnson and William Stall were reelected to trusteeships, and Robert Schneller was elected for the first time. Harold Pinckney was elected to fill the unexpired term of Arthur Kurtznacher.

Mrs. Caroline Matzen, the new director, was introduced to members.

Baltz reviewed several of the highlights of the past year for the library. A much-needed gift of $32,900 was received by the library from the will of the late Mary Schaeffer, former librarian.

A new roof on the main library building is almost completed, and will be finished when weather permits. "The roof has been needed for a long time, but we didn't have the necessary funds before," commented Baltz. The competion of the roof will allow the interior of the building to be remodelled without fear of leakage.

Another highlight was the purchase of the former Bott estate, to the rear of the Childrens Library. This property, once the present building on it is torn down, will square off the corner lot and be used for a parking lot.

Baltz said that the house will be torn down in the spring, and paving will commence at that time.

Offiders will be elected for the board at a later date.

Safety of the Pill--- Women, Lab in Grim Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — A noted birth control specialist said today women are in a grim race with laboratory animals to determine the safety of the pill.

"The ultimate outcome of this race between dogs, monkeys and women can be anticipated by informed observers only with great apprehension and concern," Dr. Roy Hertz told the Senate monopoly subcommittee.

Hertz is chairman of the cancer task force of a Federal Food and Drug Administration advisory panel that twice has reported on the growing number of suspected hazards in taking oral contraceptives.

Testifying on the second day of hearings into the safety of oral contraceptives, Hertz said it might take years to confirm suspected links between the pill and cancer of the breast and uterus.

But he said it would be a "rare circumstance indeed" that would cause him to prescribe most current pills.

Hertz said much early testing of the pill had been misinterpreted. He blamed fear of the population explosion and drug industry pressure for creating a worldwide enthusiasm that hampers "truly comprehensive and objective evaluation of its merits and demerits."

Although Hertz made only passing reference to the drug industry, another witness blamed the drug makers for dispensing "untruthful and dangerous advice."

Dr. Edmond Kassouf, identified by subcommittee spokesmen as one of the first American practitioners to suspect serious side effects from the pill, said pamphlets given consumers failed to take note of studies definitely linking oral contraceptives to fatal blood clotting and other disorders.

Kassouf also accused the American Medical Association of having a "puzzling" record on birth control pills, refusing to publish or take note of some critical reports.

In testifying on the risk of cancer, Hertz singled out the widely used synthetic female hormone estrogen and said the overwhelming mass of studies had showed it caused cancer in mice, rats, rabbits, hamsters and dogs.

"It is also to be noted that all chemicals known to produce tumors in man such as aniline dyes, arsenic, coal tar and thorium also produce tumors in experimental animals and frequently in the same site," Hertz said.

Estrogen, virtually abandoned in Britain after a recent report linked it directly to fatal blood clotting, is used in about half the birth control pills prescribed for the estimated 8.5 million American users.

Manson and Judge--Storybook Setting

CHARLES MANSON
. . . A Verbal Joust
(UPI TELEPHOTO)

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — "You know, judge, like sometimes I wonder if you know what is going on," said Charles Manson.

"Sometimes I wonder, too," said Superior Court Judge George M. Dell.

It was a storybook setting in the Hall of Justice Wednesday as the bearded, shaggy-haired Manson chatted for 50 minutes with the judge about acting as his own attorney in the Sharon Tate murder case.

"You don't just become a lawyer overnight, you know" said Manson.

"Well, there is an old proverb that you probably have heard a thousand times," Dell replied. "It is that a lawyer who represents himself has a fool for a client. I think that also applies to laymen who choose to represent themselves."

Manson, 35, clad in red velour blouse and tapestried vest, grinned as spectators chuckled at his sallies.

Manson complained about the inconvenience of preparing his defense from jail and there were these exchanges:

Manson: "We are living, you know, like in an age of computers but you give me some paper and pencils and a stack of books and tell me — 'You've got it made.'"

Dell: "The district attorney is being lenient in approving a tape recorder being brought in by your investigator."

Manson: "Yes, I was going to ask him to call the whole thing off."

Dell: "You speak at a high level of understanding but some of your concepts are a little esoteric."

Manson: "I may surprise you."

Dell: "I don't think you will surprise me. We in our black robes do our own thing too, Mr. Manson."

Dell granted Manson a continuance until Jan. 28 to enter a plea to charges he masterminded seven murders.

Insured Satellite Fired

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)— Engineers tracked the first satellite insured against the risks of rocket flight today and prepared to kick it into its final orbit above the Atlantic Friday.

The commercial communications satellite will remain covered by its $4.5 million insurance policy until the ultimate 22,300-mile high stationary orbit is achieved.

The spacecraft is owned by the Comsat Corp., and the 70 nations in the International Telecommunications Satellite Consortium (Intelsat). Comsat's investment in the $11.5 million mission is $6.1 million, and the insurance protects its stockholders against 75 per cent of the potential losses.

If all goes well, the first satellite launched by the United States this decade will be ready for business in the booming transatlantic communications service Jan. 25, able to relay 1,200 telephone conversations or four color telecasts simultaneously.

It was launched by the space agency's 75th Delta rocket at the last possible moment Wednesday night when it appeared a troublesome radar unit at the Bermuda Tracking Station was going to force the sixth launch delay in eight days.

But just as officials were preparing to call another postponement, the radar was fixed and the countdown proceeded. The Delta got off at 7:16 p.m. EST—the deadline for the night.

The Delta propelled the 644-pound, drum-shaped Intelsat 3 series satellite into the current preliminary orbit ranging from an estimated 165 to 22,700 miles high.

The orbit change is scheduled for about 9 a.m. EST Friday. A radio signal from earth will trigger the spacecraft's rocket and push it out of its egg-shaped orbit into a circular one 22,300 miles high. At that point, the satellite's speed will match the earth's rotation, and it will remain over one point on earth.

Three Intelsat 3 series satellites have performed that orbit change without difficulty. Two others were lost by Delta rocket failures before achieving the preliminary orbit. Neither of these was insured.

Lottery Draft Plea Made

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Selective Service has asked the nation's 4,000 local draft boards to try to stay within the first 30 lottery numbers in filling January induction quotas.

With the draft at a comparative low of 12,500 men for this month, a spokesman said that, barring exceptional circumstances, not more than 1-12 of the 366 draft numbers should be needed.

So far, the spokesman said, only a few boards have gone beyond No. 30. One report to headquarters was that an Illinois board had no men available for draft with a lottery number lower than 278, but it was not known whether this man was inducted.

The state directors have been asked to cooperate in making it possible for local boards to defer their quotas until later in the year when men with low numbers are not available.

The hope at headquarters is that induction quotas for the first half of this year can be filled without using more than 30 numbers in any month. This would mean that, through June, there would be no draftees with numbers above 180.

In July, Selective Service officials believe, most draft boards could start over using Nos. 1-30 again because of deferments expiring at the end of the school year.

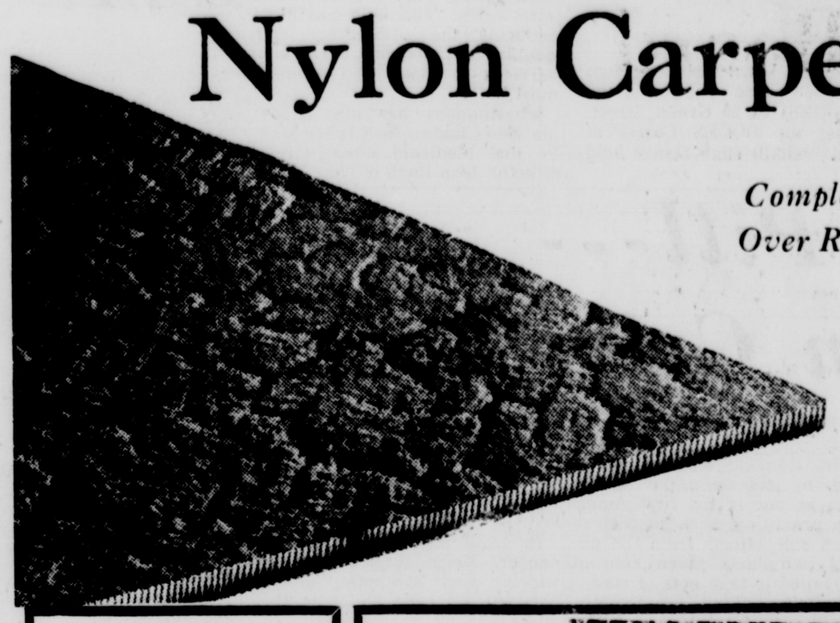

The total of potential draftees to become available through expiring deferments in 1970 is estimated at 350,000, and could equal the pool of nondeferred men who will be available for draft at midyear. The nondeferred pool of draft eligibles now is estimated at 500,000 men, but the Defense Department believes that 290,000 of these will volunteer during the year. This would leave 210,000 available for induction. Some among the expiring deferments will also volunteer, but the percentage may be lower.

Current shortages of men eligible for draft are mostly in neighborhoods where the percentage of college attendance is very high and almost all 19 year olds are entitled to deferments.

Selective Service officials believe the same neighborhoods, if permitted to postpone quotas early this year, will be able to recover next summer because of their predictable larger-than-ordinary influxes of expiring deferments.

Wawarsing Holds Hearing On Subdivision Regulation

ELLENVILLE — The 557 residents of the Town of Warwarsing who petitioned for a hearing and possible changes or end to the recently passed subdivision regulation in the town were given their chance to be heard here Wednesday evening, but appeared in slimmer numbers than the tally on the petition.

Fewer than 70 persons attended the hearing, conducted jointly by the town board and the town's Planning Board.

The subdivision regulation, said by the town to be a forerunner of planned Zoning Regulations, was attacked by the petitioners as being complicated and in parts unnecessary, especially where the law applies to small subdivisions of five or fewer lots.

Said one resident present in the Ellenville Central School for the session: "anybody who puts their life savings" into "one, two, three or four pieces of land in 15 or 20 acres is netted in with the big fish—the big subdividers.

His comment was echoed by others at the session, including local engineer E. F. Messenger, who preasented the town board and planning board with "a series of recommended modifications and changes" then challenged items on more than 20 of the regulations 45 pages.

Messenger complained about the apparent lack of consultation with residents at public hearings before the law was passed last May, and said hearings to decide on possible subdivisions would be held without public interest. "The public, having no power, will have no interest in such hearings" designed to discuss individual divisions of land for development in the future.

After Messenger's list of suggestions, a presentation that took about 20 minutes, the board attempted to discuss the items. Planning Board member William Eckert offered to discuss each item at the hearing, but a brief discussion changed his offer. The boards, said town Supervisor Frank Harkin, who chaired the hearing, agreed to go over the comments and one member of the planning board suggested to have the engineer "take part" in the board's discussion at a later date.

Messenger declined, saying he favored a public hearing in the future where the public would be able to take part, a suggestion accepted by Harkin.

As the engineer closed his comments, he noted that the subdivision plan "would be a great plan for the City of Albany," adding that it is too complex for a small community such as Wawarsing.

His comment was echoed by Ellenville attorney Alex Nirenberg who said that when he first saw the regulation he thought it would be "a boon for attorneys" who might have to represent landowners against the town.

A suggestion was offered from a number of residents that the regulations be "suspended" at least until Messenger's comments could be examined by the town, but was later withdrawn.

A major complaint among those present was that small property owners would have to face "thousands of dollars in expenses" in filing subdivisions with the town. Messenger said no engineer would prepare the needed papers for small developers without a charge and he challenged comments by town engineer Aaron Horowitz that small divisions of five plots could be filed for $15 or about that amount.

The complex law, as it was called by Messenger and others in the room, was defended by Horowitz who told them "I don't think that anyone here has read a stringent regulation on subdivisions — if they call this a 'stringent regulation.'"

A Resolution Adopted By Rhinebeck Board

By NANCY SULLIVAN

RHINEBECK — A resolution was adopted at the Rhinebeck Town Board meeting Wednesday night to grant the town superintendent of highways permission to spend $5 without the approval of the board for the coming year.

Supervisor Allen proposed that money be taken from the general fund and be put into the budget of the highway department. The current balance of the highway department is $427 and this will not cover the cost of payroll expenses. The board approved transfer of $5,000 into the highway Department fund.

Town Justice DeWitt Gurnell, chairman of the Recreation Committee proposed that art exhibits and music be encouraged in the town as well as the other activities taken in by the Recreation Committee. He also listed the court hours, which will be 9 to 12 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays through Friday and for the first time there will be night court on Monday night from 7 to 9.

Supervisor Allen announced that he spoke to Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. about putting in 21 new street lights in Rhinecliff. The money is already in the budget. The town must sign a work authorization paper which will allow Central Hudson to begin work and Allen requested permission of the board to sign.

Homer Staley, chairman of the Planning Board, made a suggestion that the Planning Board and the Town Board meet before the public hearing on zoning which has not been scheduled.

Sy Frazier, town attorney, was requested to send out notices to those who are violating the trailer ordinance.

Mention was made of the two representatives of Kingston Cablevision who appeared Tuesday night before the Village Board and several representatives of the Town Board of Rhinebeck. No decision on cablevision can be made until the town and village of Rhinebeck, Red Hook and Rhinecliff can meet.

Cablevision Makes an Offer

RHINEBECK — Two representatives from Kingston Cablevision appeared before the Rhinebeck Town and Village Boards Tuesday night to offer a community cable TV antenna service to the town and village of Rhinebeck, the town and village of Red Hook and Rhinecliff.

The proposed offer is a package enterprise which must include all three communities. The head end would be located on River Road in Rhinebeck.

William Krajci, general manager of Kingston Cablevision, stated that whenever possible utility poles already existing would be used for the transmission wires. Twelve channels will be offered to the area. The installation fee would be $19.50 and $6 per month. The second additional outlet would cost $2 more and each additional set, 75, cents.

Representatives from the three communities will meet at a later date to discuss the matter.

Parade Site Approval Granted to Firemen

Looking ahead to the summer, Rhinebeck Village Board gave permission for the use of Parsons and Chestnut Streets for the Firemen's parade, which will be held August 30.

It was disclosed at the Board meeting Tuesday night, that the Village has received one bid for the firehouse located on West Market Street. The property covers approximately 2,765 square feet of land. The Beekman Arms has proposed to pay $8,295 for the building and land. The property is assessed at $25,000 and Mayor Sipperley stated that he had expected to sell the property at least for $10,000. The matter is still under consideration by the Board.

An amendment to the parking ordinance was passed. The amendment now states that anyone caught parking in a restricted zone as indicated by a no parking sign, will be fined $5 instead of the previous $1. The fine for parking meter violations still remains $1. It was felt that cars parked in a no parking zone were a potential safety hazard.

A special note of thanks was extended to the snow removal crew in the Village of Rhinebeck for the excellent job they did and the extra hours they put in.

Mrs. Esther Miller, town clerk, was appointed registrar for the village.

Plans were made for an end of January public hearing on zoning.

Police Raid Apartment, Halt Gambling Ring

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y. — Police and state troopers raided a Mount Vernon apartment Wednesday and broke up a gambling ring which they said was handling $500,000 a year in illegal bets.

Mount Vernon police said they found 50,000 numbers policy slips in the apartment, which was occupied by Harry Crayton, 32, and Betty Gibson, 25.

Detectives also claimed they manned three telephones in the apartment, and took in and recorded 1,000 bets within an hour and 15 minutes. Most of the bets were on "Bolito action" (so-called Spanish numbers) and sporting events.

Crayton and Miss Gibson were arrested on charges of felony possession of gambling records.

Food Surpluses

The Japanese find themselves in a dilemma Americans have long been familiar with—food surpluses.

Ten years ago Japan was a major importer of rice, the staple of the Orient. This year Japanese farmers expect to harvest a bumper crop of some 14 million tons, about 10 per cent above the nation's needs.

The surpluses can't be exported because the official Japanese price for rice is about double the price in the free world market. Evidently there are reasons why it can't be given away, either. Thus it will have to be added to existing stockpiles of about six million tons, much of which is rotting.

Even as in America, not only more efficient farming but liberal government subsidies have contributed to the situation. Japan's rice subsidy bill this year will rise to around $825 million, exclusive of storage costs.

And as we have learned, the crop subsidy steamroller, once set in motion, is hard to stop. Even though certain other foods, such as vegetables, are in short supply in Japan, and command high prices, Japanese farmers are farther ahead growing rice and collecting the subsidy. Japanese politicians, like their American counterparts, are reluctant to alienate the powerful farm vote.

Food surplus is a problem, but all countries should have a similar one. In the face of statistical certainties regarding world population increase, it's one problem not likely to endure.

The Fight on Hunger

The hue and cry of liberals about hunger in the United States has made the world believe this country does nothing to help its poor.

Isabelle M. Kelly directs the food stamp program for the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The current fiscal year, she is spending $610 millions of stamp money. Next year, she hopes to have $1 billion to spend.

The Food Stamp Division in the Department's Food and Nutrition Service has been able to extend the food stamp program to 3.5 million Americans in all but 290 counties in the nation.

It costs a family of four in the lowest income bracket $2 to buy $56 to $60 worth of coupons that can be redeemed at the neighborhood store for any kind of food except luxury items labeled as imports. A family of four in the South able to pay as much as $84 can buy $102 worth of food and one in the North can buy $106 worth. A single scale will be used when the act is modified because it has been found that food costs pretty much the same the country over.

Food stamps are not really stamps. They are scrip, a little smaller than dollar bills. They come in denominations of 50 cents and $2. They pay food retailers, who redeem them at banks or to pay wholesalers. With these limitations, they're like money. For 30 years, they have helped alleviate hunger for the poor. They are a form of family support which few people appreciate because food stamps have been with us so long.

An early start on hunger should be made, as well as on schooling. A study of black children in Tufts University, Boston, shows that a child's potential mental development is crippled by hunger. But the answer is not alone in food, it is also an additional stimuli to the mind to develop mental factors.

---

The country is headed for a domestic minicar boom in the '70s. Pressures of inflation and foreign imports have led American makers again to work on smaller, cheaper cars, to sell under or at $2,000. The imports account for 10 per cent of American sales. The domestic makers are going after that market.

---

Real progress is being made toward feeding the poor. What the experts worry about now is the nutritional value of the diets of the affluent, the teenaged and the aging. It's not how much but what you eat that counts.

Why Are Nations Silent On Inhumanity of Hanoi?

WASHINGTON—What has become of humanitarianism? This is a pertinent question today as the wives of some of the American servicemen held by North Vietnam seek to find out whether their husbands are alive and, if so, how they are faring.

In every war, worthy attempts have been made to see not only that prisoners are well treated but that their families are informed of their capture. Neutral as well as belligerent countries have recognized that certain aid may be sent to prisoners and that they should be permitted to receive mail and packages. The International Red Cross has been the principal agency behind such efforts.

Now things are different. The Red Cross has adopted resolutions urging that the names of the prisoners held by North Vietnam be made public and some information given to their families. The authorities in Hanoi, however, have been ignoring all pleas. What is even more surprising is that the principal governments of the world are not speaking out and demanding humane consideration by North Vietnam for the families of the prisoners by telling them something about the welfare of those imprisoned.

Why shouldn't, for instance, the Prime Minister of Great Britain, the Premier of France and the heads of all other governments express themselves about the inhumanity of Hanoi in refusing to tell the families of the prisoners which ones are alive and which ones are dead?

Last September, the International Conference of the Red Cross met in Istanbul, Turkey, and was attended by representatives of 77 governments and 91 National Red Cross societies, including those from Communist countries. It unanimously adopted a resolution urging all governments to abide by the 1949 Geneva Convention on the Humane Treatment of Prisoners. The convention, which has been formally signed by the Hanoi government, calls for prompt identification of prisoners, adequate diet and medical care, communication with other prisoners and their families at home, quick repatriation of seriously sick or wounded, protection from abuse or reprisals, and inspection of camp conditions by a neutral intermediary.

The American Red Cross followed up the resolution by asking societies in more than 25 nations that they and their respective governments make direct appeals to the North Vietnam government to adhere to the convention. In this and other countries the Red Cross has carried on a campaign to get individuals and groups to wirte to Hanoi in a "moral protest" at its failure to give the names of those held captive.

Spectacular attempts have been made by the wives of some of the prisoners to attract world attention in behalf of their husbands. A few days ago, four California women whose husbands are missing in Vietnam arrived at the Mocow Airport without visas but with the hope of talking to the wives of top Kremlin leaders and enlisting their assistance. The Americans were held in an airport hotel and were not granted permission to enter the city.

"We hope someone will see us," said one of the wives, Carol Hanson, of El Toro, Cal., on Monday. "We aren't asking that these men be released. We feel it is only basic humanity that families at home in America know whether their loved ones are alive or dead."

The husband of Mrs. Hanson was a U.S. Marine helicopter pilot and has been missing since June 3, 1967. Other cases are quite the same—no word has come about the prisoners from the Hanoi government. This is a kind of torture which has rarely been inflicted in world history.

Is the Soviet government, which has been supplying most of the money for the armament of North Vietnam, aware of the sentiment throughout the world in favor of humanitarian treatment of prisoners? Does the Moscow regime think that it has no obligations under the Geneva Convention to persuade its ally in Hanoi to do something about the matter?

The United States government has sought in every way through diplomatic channels for news about the missing Americans. But apparently the answer now rests with the governments which are suppplying help to or are sympathetic with North Vietnam. Shouldn't they at least speak up and do something for the cause of humanitarianism?

Cautious Note on Vietnam

Hanoi Saving Sunday Punch?

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Some knowledgeable specialists on foreign affairs are privately expressing very marked caution with regard to improvements on both the military and civilian fronts in South Vietnam.

The widely reported improvements, including the opening up of the Vietnamese countryside and the evident decline of Viet Cong influence in many villages, are not doubted. What is put in question is the long-range significance of these changes.

One prestigious source, necessarily anonymous, believes that Hanoi may simply be lying low until the pullout of U. S. ground combat troops is so far advanced that Red attacks can be mounted with greater hope of success and much less cost in manpower than heretofore.

This man, like virtually all realistic appraisers of the war, is convinced that both the Viet Cong guerrillas and the North Vietnamese regulars have suffered unacceptable battle losses in the many months since the first Tet offensive in early 1968. A rather general judgment is that Hanoi does not wish to pay this price in blood any longer.

President Nixon's turn to staged unilateral ground troop withdrawal as an alternative to fruitless negotiations in Paris, has given Hanoi a chance to lie relatively quiet, replace losses through stepped-up infiltration, and await a perhaps more promising day.

In the view of this same anonymous source, Hanoi's pullback accounts in substantial part for the sharp slippage in VC influence in the South Vietnamese villages. The VC's political arm, it is suggested, is dependent for its strength on the guerrilla menace lurking nearby in the jungles.

With that threat at least temporarily diminished, this expert argues, VC political officials either vanish or are thrust aside as villagers either take a more independent course or, in some instances, actually shift allegiance to Saigon.

But the source contends that Hanoi, while newly acknowledging that victory is not in sight and a long war may be in store, is still not beaten and not ready to yield the field to its American and South Vietnamese adversaries. The man adds:

"They have not lost the will to fight and try to win. I believe our own military is convinced of this."

He makes the persuasive point, underscored by a fair rash of recent enemy strikes, that Hanoi can hit and run almost any time it wishes — and he prdicts that 1970 will see an increasing number of these limited but still potentially damaging assaults.

The objective? To maintain Hanoi's credibility as an effective fighting force, to keep Saigon off balance, to let us know they are not giving up.

The anonymous expert contends further that the whole fresh picture of an expansively pacified South Vietnamese countryside is enormously deceptive, that Hanoi is, in fact, capable of delivering severe blows either against still remaining U.S. forces or a South Vietnam army untested though now better trained and equipped.

"People say Vietnam is dropping out as an issue in this country," he observes. "I think it is going to come back."

Another highly qualified specialist, inside the government, largely endorses these judgments. In his mind "Vietnamization" is working well but is at best a "short term" policy. Plainly, he doubts Saigon's ability to defend itself fully once U. S. ground troops are out — and believes therefore that this policy must be superseded by other approaches which will draw Hanoi into serious peace nogotiations.

This second source suggests that, while Vietnamization still seems to be progressing, while Saigon looks strong, while the President's homefront backup is stable and Hanoi is still relatively weaker than earlier, some reasonably attractive and fresh-looking settlement package should be offered to the enemy.

Both sources seem convinced that the good news from South Vietnam, real enough now, cannot last if hopes are pinned long on Vietnamization.

Doctors Are Warning Congress Of Dangers of Birth-Control Pills

WASHINGTON — Frightening news for the eight million users of "The Pill" is contained in testimony that three medical men have prepared for Senate investigators.

Their statements, submitted to Wisconsin Senator Gaylord Nelson's investigators, warn that birth-control pills can cause blood clots, prolonged arthritis, and cancer of the breast and cervix.

Dr. Thelma Dunn of the National Cancer Institute, for instance, has developed evidence that Enovid in a daily liquid diet 'regularly produces cancer of the cervix in mice" when fed over a "very long period."

Dr. Roy Hertz, the former reproduction research chief at the famed National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, describes in his statement how Neonovum and Ethynerone produced "breast tumors . . . in animals."

As a result, both pills have been withdrawn even from research use. Yet Hertz warned that "the ostrogenic component of these two mixtures is identical with that contained in most of the preparations currently marketed, and the progestational component is a close relative of the progestagens in the mixtures still widely sold."

The tests have filled "informed observers with great apprehension and concern," said Hertz.

Their testimony will be delivered at hearings, which Senator Nelson is conducting on the side effects of oral contraceptives. Although his office refused to release advance copies of the testimony, this column was able to get them by other means.

FDA and AMA Faulted

The forthcoming testimony will reveal serious failures by the Food and Drug Administration to force adequate testing of birth-control pills. It will also accuse the American Medical Association of publishing a questionable article lauding "The Pill" to win favor with a big advertiser.

Dr. Hertz, in his advance text, reports that women starting on the pill frequently "complain of increased fullness and sensitivity of the breasts." This indicates "some type of tissue reaction is taking place," and he urges "detailed scrutiny."

Hertz said the lack of real data about the pill and possible cancer is like the "situation with respect to the pill's effect on 'blood clots' just a few years ago." Subsequently, blood clots have been acknowledged as a genuine danger in oral contraceptives. In fact, he said the inadequate knowledge about pills and cancer can be compared with what was known about lung cancer and cigarettes before statistics established their relationship.

"The estrogen - progestagen combinations do produce tumors in dogs and mice," said Hertz. These substances are found in most oral contraceptives.

Hertz declared: "I can visualize only a rare circumstance indeed in which I would recommend estrogen-progestagen mixtures for contraceptive use."

Pill-Maker

Another statement, obtained by this column, was prepared for the Senate investigators by Dr. Edmond Kassouf of Cranford, N.J. As far back as 1961, he warned G. D. Searle Co. about a woman who got phlebitis while taking birth control pills. The company told him there was "no evidence to implicate the pill," but Kassouf has been investigating ever since.

In his statements, Kassouf quoted a Sept. 30, 1968, article in the Journal of the American Medical Association by Dr. Victor Drill and David Calhoun of the G. D. Searle Co. They declared "that U. S. data did not reveal a clotting or death risk," a conclusion now disputed by the Food and Drug Administration.

In the year before, other documents show, Searle had placed 77 pages of advertisements in the Journal.

Kassouf charged that literature put out by Searle, Ortho - Pharmaceutical and Parke-Davis for women using the pill continue to "mislead and misinform."

He described a long history of Food and Drug Administration vacillation on the pill and said that it is now generally agreed that "major pill clotting reactions" occur in one out of every 2,000 pill users each year."

Dr. Giles Bole, Jr., associate professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan Medical School, gave Senate investigators a report on his studies of arthritis and the pill. He warned, however, that his findings are preliminary.

Arthritis Involved

He told of surveys taken at the University of Michigan arthritis clinic. In the spring of 1967 a 24-year-old housewife on the pill reported mild rheumatic complaints. She stopped taking the pill "and within six weeks all of her laboratory abnormalities had disappeared."

A variety of surveys on women from 15 to 45 generally bore out the results of the first woman's case. Dr. Bole said there was something of a dilemma on use of the pill because "we cannot ignore the overwhelming importance of population control as a major social and medical problem for our age."

In addition, natural pregnancy can sometime worsen arthritic diseases. Nevertheless, he said a great deal of individual thought should be given before using "oral contraceptives in patients with early or established rheumatic disease."

A fourth document, disputing the others, was prepared by Dr. Robert W. Kistner of the Harvard Medical School. He stated: "Only one decision stands: the pill is safe. It is safer than pregnancy but not as safe as continence."

Kistne said that "for every pill-induced death in Britain, there are at least 1,500 cigarette-induced deaths.

There is no statistically valid basis for linking the pill to the various forms of cancer that occur in the female," said Kistner.

The professional evidence which the Senate hearings will produce, however, are weighted three to one against The Pill.

Henry J. Taylor Says
Skiing Is Fastest Growing Sport

Skiing, say insurance companies, is now the fastest growing sport. And they have begun offering injury coverage at only $8.25 per-thousand-dollar liability, finding that accidents are so relatively few.

Several transatlantic airlines, in turn, are also boosting the incentive by offering to carry skis free. For to increasing thousands this sport means Europe's Alps.

The sport's thrills are only partly responsible. The scenery is nearly as strong a magnet.

Higher than the Alps, longer than the Himalayas, the Andes are the longest and greatest chain of mountains in the world. "Surely the gods live in the Himalayas," Kipling's Kim exclaimed. "there is no place for men there." But the Himalayas are not so high when you see them. These mountains are on a high plateau. Mt. Everest itself rises only 15,000 feet above the plateau. And nothing compares with the Alps for sheer grandeur.

A person must see this magnificent region with his own eyes, just as he must hear a concert with his own ears. And the most magnificent sight of all comes during the few twilight moments of change from dawn to the full sunrise that the eternal mountains rise from their purple beds and Mother Earth holds a jubilee.

The region begins at Mont Blanc, the top of Europe, with its white signpost high above the clouds, the Matterhorn's soaring neighbors everywhere and the network of them is now in the midst of a wonderful building boom.

In the Alpine world the wind's velocity increases with altitude; but in compensation, it is steadier. This is the rule of the mountains. Nevertheless, distrubances to skiers nearly always originate near the crests. Summit temperatures, in turn, can be around 40 degrees below zero.

On very high ski runs the weather can change drastically in a matter of moments. These mountains are temperamental and thus unpredictable. A familiar ski run is seldom twice the same. Suddenly a blinding snow can lock the looming masses into being a shrouded world of stone, desolation and danger. And the wind's threat multiplies the problem.

Roman historian Titus Livius mentions avalanches during Hannibal's trip across the Alps in 218 B.C. These are still the chief cause of mass accidents. And the Swiss lead the world in the study of this threat. The Weissfluhjok Institute near Davos, a skiing paradise, the Federal Technical Group at the University of Zurich are the centers.

Swiss champion skiers on certain very high runs sometimes trail a 30-foot-long red rope behind them to help rescuers find them if they are trapped under a sudden fall of snow, although trained Swiss army dogs can detect a man at a depth of 30 feet, completely buried.

Some avalanches move slowly. "The snow creeps," Alpine peasants say of these. Others strike furiously at incredible speeds and in a mist like the Pacific's unusual, chill drizzle along the South American seacoast.

A wet-snow avalanche is moving fast at 17 miles an hour. By contrast, dry-snow avalanches have been clocked by the Weissfluhjok Institute at more than 200 miles an hour. One cubic meter of lightest snow weighs less than 20 pounds. The same quantity of settled, old snow may weigh 1,800 pounds.

Because the mixture of snow and air is heavier than the air that surrounds it, the snow cloud pushes columns of air ahead of itself smashing everything before the avalanche strikes and sucking the debris back below.

Alpine experts are agonized by the number of Americans, weekend skiers on our quite different slopes, who make this mistake. They view with disgust any bravado, and shudder at the sight of a show-off. They respect, instead, the wise visitors who leave their vanity behind and enjoy this glorious sport without it. Their applause goes to those who know their own limitations in the Alps and have the brains to play it safe.

"It's something he dreamed up so he wouldn't miss any of the Super Bowl!"

Few 'Prophets Of Doom' Found Around Globe

By GEORGE GALLUP

Copyright, 1970, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 14—A recent Gallup International survey uncovers few "prophets of gloom and doom" among the American people or the publics of 11 other nations around the globe.

The weight of opinion in each of the 12 nations surveyed is that the world during the next two decades will be a better place in which to live than it is today.

Considerable optimism is recorded in terms of gains in the fields of medicine, science and technology. Large majorities in each nation (75 per cent in the U.S.) think a cure for cancer will be found by the year 1990. As many as one person in five in the U.S.—comparable proportion in most other nations surveyed—thinks man will be living on the moon in 20 years' time.

More leisure time by 1990 is forecast by some. Upwards of a third in the U.S., Great Britain and Canada think that a three-day work week will be in effect in 20 years' time.

Three persons in every ten in the United States think life expectancy will have risen to 100 by the year 1990. Somewhat higher proportions in Uruguay, Canada and Great Britain predict such a development, but considerably smaller proportions do so in Colombia, India, Japan, Finland, Spain and Israel.

The 'Gloom Merchants?'

Only about one person in twelve in the U.S.—and a comparable ratio for all nations as a whole—think the next 20 years will see a nuclear war between Russia and the U.S. Only one person in nine for all nations hold the view that civilization will be in ruins.

Most pessimistic on the survival of mankind are the Colombians (22 per cent predict doom by 1990). Canadians (21 per cent), the Uruguayans (19 per cent), the Finns (17 per cent) and the British (15 per cent).

The "gloom merchants" in the U.S. tend to be older men, persons with only a grade school background, those who live in the South. Most optimistic tend to be middle-aged persons with a college background who live in the East.

Details of Survey

During the last two months of 1969, Gallup-affiliated organizations in 12 nations assigned their interviewers to talk to representatives samples of people in the following countries: Canada, Colombia, Finland, Greece, Great Britain, India, Israel, Japan, Spain, United States, Uruguay and West Germany.

Following are key tables from the survey, with percentages ranked from highest to lowest, and the consensus for all nations surveyed:

Paltz School Orientation

NEW PALTZ

An orientation session will be held next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. for parents who have a child entering 9th grade in the fall at New Paltz High School.

The meeting will be in the high school cafeteria, according to John L. Wyman, high school principal.

The high school guidance director will give an explanation of the educational opportunities available and the requirements for graduation from high school. Co-curricular activities and rules and regulations also will come under scrutiny.

Charge Seven Firms With Water Pollution

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven industrial firms, including the Consolidated Edison Co., have been charged in federal court with polluting New York City's waterways.

U.S. Atty. Edward R. Meaher filed papers against the alleged polluters in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn Wednesday and termed the move "a major federal crackdown on water pollution and creation of navigational hazards."

Con Edison, which provides the city's electrical power, was charged with discharging oil into the East River in the summer of 1968 from one of its Brooklyn plants.

The firms are required to answer the charges on Jan. 29 before Judge George S. Rosling. Convictions entail a maximum fine of $2,500 for each violation.

Meaher said information for the complaints was provided by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The six other firms are:

—The White Rock Corp., manufacturers of soft drinks, charged with dumping waste into Buttermilk Channel from its Brooklyn plant on six separate occasions.

—Van Iderstein Co., an animal fat rendering firm, charged with twice dumping refuse into Newtown Creek from its Queens plant.

—Investors Collateral Corp., a contracting firm, charged with allowing debris to float into Flushing Bay.

—Henly Operating Co., a contracting firm, charged with placing logs on an embankment near Atlantic Beach Bridge in Nassau County, where they could be washed into Bannister Creek.

—Patchogue Oil Terminal Corp., charged with dumping oil into Gowanus Canal from a Brooklyn pier.

—Commander Oil Corp., charged with dumping oil into Long Island Sound from an Oyster Bay pier.

2 Appointments In Fire Dept.

KINGSTON — Two appointments have been made by the Kingston Board of Fire Commissioners to fill vacancies in the Fire Department.

At a meeting Tuesday night at headquarters, the Board appointed James W. Folwell Jr., 33, of 152 Elmendorf Street, to a permanent position as assistant fire department electrician, according to Chief James M. Brett, secretary of the Board.

Also appointed to a permanent post was Charles Galvin, 25, of R.D. 2 Box 82, Kingston, who was named a firefighter third grade.

Both appointments become effective on Saturday, Jan. 24, Brett said.

Award Contract For Road Work In Valley Area

ALBANY — Governor Rockefeller announced today the award of a contract for $996,324 to O.W. Hubbell & Sons Inc. of New Hartford, for making safety improvements on 15 miles of Interstate Route 84 in the Towns of Fishkill and East Fishkill, Dutchess County and the Town and City of Newburgh, Orange County.

The firm submitted the lowest of four bids to the State Department of Transportation. The State's share of the cost of the project will be paid with funds from the Transportation Bond Issue approved by New York voters in 1967.

The project extends from the Taconic State Parkway westerly to the Governor Thomas E. Dewey Thruway, except for the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge. New guide railing and median barrier sections will be installed, traffic signs added, replaced or shifted away from the roadways, and other work done.

Scheduled for completion by Dec. 30, 1970, all work will be under the supervision of M. Nicholas Sinacori, regional director for the State Department of Transportation at Poughkeepsie.

Bennett College Pact Awarded

MILLBROOK — A contract for construction of a Science Center at Bennett College, Millbrook, has been awarded to R. Ciferri & Sons, Inc., Bennett president Donald A. Eldridge made known today. The Millbrook construction firm, of which Ernest A. Ciferri is vice-president, was low bidder with a base price of $1,745,500. Total project cost is expected to be $1,921,955.

The Bennett Science Center will go up on a site between the Mellon Center for the Arts and the residence halls now under construction. Groundbreaking is planned for next month, weather permitting, and the completed building should be ready for year-round use by September 1971.

The Science Center is one of the major objectives of the college's $8,000,000 "Turning Point" capital-gifts campaign directed by Bennett vice-president Paul M. Winship. Construction has been made possible by a $1,000,000 gift to the campaign from the late Eugene W. Kettering of Dayton, Ohio; a number of gifts from Bennett alumnae, parents, and other friends; and a Federal grant of $524,567 from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare under Title I of the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963.

NOTICE

The law offices of Floyd W. Powell, Esq., located at 254 Fair Street, Kingston, New York, will be permanently closed as of February 1, 1970, because of Mr. Powell's retirement from active practice.

All clients who have documents or files in Mr. Powell's office should arrange to collect the same between 9:00 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Monday through Friday, prior to February 1, 1970.

KILLED — Marilyn Anne McKay, 23, of Forest Hills, N. Y., was one of three young women Peace Corps members killed in Eldoret, Kenya, Tuesday, when their car was hit by a train. It was the worst single accident in the history of the volunteer organization. Also killed were Susan Davey, 23, of Chicago, and Martha Merrill, 23, of Tucson, Arizona. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Proposal by Lefkowitz On Credit Cards

NEW YORK (UPI) — State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz wants no more sending of unsolicited credit cards because of two reasons — temptation and inflation.

In a statement to a State Senate subcommittee hearing today, Lefkowitz recommended passage of two bills. The measures would make the forwarding of unsolicited credit cards a misdemeanor and remove from any liability the person to whom such a card was mailed.

"I have received letters from husbands and wives who have related stories of how, with the arrival of the unasked for credit card, they were induced into a spending spree which of course they eventually had to pay for," Lefkowitz said.

"It certainly is ironic," he continued, "that at the very same time everyone is concerned with inflation and steps are being taken by government to curtail it at all levels that we still are witnessing a proliferation of unsolicited credit cards."

Mme. Nhu Sues

PARIS (UPI)—Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, widow of the South Vietnamese politician slain Nov. 2, 1963, sued the French weekly news magazine L'Express Wednesday asking $3,600 for what she said was an article libeling her late husband. A court reserved judgement until Jan. 28.

Edelmuth Reelected President

Gateway Inc. Moves Into 1970's on Expansive Keynote

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON

Gateway Industries Inc. strode into the 70's with an impressive array of records broken over its first 10 years as a vocational training and rehabilitation center serving the handicapped of the area.

At the annual board meeting this week, John T. Sullivan, executive director announced that a record number of handicapped persons had been placed in jobs outside the center during 1969. He said he was "very happy" to see the all time high of 272 "clients" become a part of the working world. Prior to training and rehabilitation at Gateway, most had been institutionalized, on welfare or supported by their families without means of personal income.

During the past year, Gateway workers earned $80,000 in wages for sub-contract jobs from area industry and business firms. In the everyday world of Gateway 125 handicapped persons are steadily employed including 25 to 30 severly handicapped individuals. In his report, Sullivan noted that the wages earned by Gateway trainees are being spent in the community and of course they are paying taxes on their earnings where previously they were subsidized by the government through institutions or social services.

Looking to the future, Sullivan stressed the new work activities center, a Gateway section for the severly handicapped which provides therapeutic work and activities. Twelve persons are enrolled in the new section and it is anticipated that many more will be added to the program after thorough evaluation by Gateway staff.

In cooperation with state programs, Gateway has set up services for the socially disadvantaged and the blind during the past year. This phase too is expected to expand greatly in the coming year.

In 1968, Gateway served 246 disabled and handicapped persons. Of this group 70 were placed in competitive jobs, 39 in Kingston area and 31 in other cities. During its first year of operation prior to designation as a full fledged workshop, Gateway had only five persons and none were placed in competitive industry.

The 10th anniversary of Gateway's workshop status was Jan. 2 of this year. It's rapid growth is marked by the high praise received on state and national levels during the past year. The center is now classified as a large vocational rehabilitation center as compared to the previous small center category. Sullivan noted that the growth had been so rapid that Gateway by-passed the medium sized designation.

William F. Edelmuth, former Kingston mayor and present county legislator, was reelected to his 13th consecutive term as president at the Tuesday night board meeting.

Others reelected were Arthur B. Richter, first vice president; Charles S. Ronder, second vice president; John Cline, treasurer and Paul Berish, secretary.

Key Northern Dutchess Hospital Appointments

RHINEBECK — Elections to two key posts at Northern Dutchess Hospital were held recently with Dr. Roger A. Yerry named president of the medical staff for 1970 and Michael A. Fichera reelected president of the Board of Directors.

Dr. Yerry replaces Dr. William H. Jameison whose term recently expired. Serving with him will be Dr. William Thompson, vice president; Dr. Graenum Schiff, secretary and Dr. Donald P. McKibbin, treasurer.

The balance of the board slate includes Benson R. Frost Jr., first vice president; S. Richard Lloyd, second vice president; Mildred Z. Young, secretary and Carroll F. Lynch, treasurer.

Accreditation of Northern Dutchess Hospital Blood Bank was also announced this week as was the exhibit of paintings by Louis Burgess of Rhinebeck which will go on display in the main corridor Jan. 19. The 67-year-old painter will show sea and landscapes which will be available for private purchase.

With respect to the accreditation, Dr. Enold H. Dahlquist, president of the American Association of Blood Banks said that, "Through inspection of evaluation it has been determined that the level of technical and administrative performance within your blood bank meets or exceeds the standards established by the association."

Congratulating the hospital's governing board and staff, Dr. Dahlquist pointed out that "this recognition is assurance of your continued interest in establishing the highest quality medical care to the patients you serve."

Accreditation was preceded by a comprehensive questionnaire and physical inspection of the blood bank by one of the Association's volunteer specialists.

The purpose of the voluntary inspection and accreditation program, sponsored by the American Association of Blood Banks, is to elevate the standards of practice within the transfusion service; to assist the blood bank director in determining whether the procedures being employed in his institution meet the established standards; and to provide consultation service, thus assuring patients of increased safety of human blood transfusion. Continuing voluntary participation in the program is outstanding evidence of the blood bank's effort to provide a superlative service to the community.

Northern Dutchess Hospital Blood Bank is one of the more than 1,000 blood banks which have been certified through this program. Dr. Dahlwuist emphasized that "the patient who receives a transfusion of blood provided by a blood bank accredited by the American Association of Blood Banks can have full confidence that the bank has voluntarily met high standards of procedures and is continually striving to offer the best service possible."

Charge Roomer With Murder In Widow's Death

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)— The battered body of the widow of a famed private detective was found today in a Tarrytown rooming house and a fellow roomer was charged with the murder.

Mrs. Janet Schindler, 60, was found in a third floor room, according to police. George Santos, 32, a shipping room clerk, was arrested and after questioning was charged by police with homicide.

Santos was picked up after another roomer told police he was seen covered with blood. Police said he used his fists to beat the woman to death.

Mrs. Schindler's husband, Raymond, who died in 1959, was famous for his solving of many murders during his career which started in 1906 on the west coast.

Good News From Scientist For the Conservationists

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A nuclear scientist reports good news for conservationists who fear that using nuclear explosives to build dams, canals and harbors will pollute the earth with radiation.

Dr. B. Clark Groseclose of the University of California's Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at Livermore, Calif., said Wednesday final tests are under way in Nevada on a nuclear explosive for underground use that is virtually free of harmful radiation.

Development of the explosive, he said, is the result of years of research to find the right combination of nuclear reactions, fuels and shielding.

Even cleaner nuclear devices can be built, he said, but their size or cost might be prohibitive for industrial purposes.

If the tests later this year are successful, he said, a nuclear explosion equivalent to 1 million tons of TNT exploded below ground would produce so little radiation that "permanent living on the crater lip soon after detonation" would be feasiable.

Groseclose spoke at a meeting of the American Nuclear Society.

The society is meeting through Friday to review progress in the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's Plowshare program to find peaceful uses for nuclear energy.

Scientists have dreamed for years of using nuclear explosives to move entire mountains, dredge harbors, scoop canals, free oil and gas deposits or blast out canyon walls to dam rivers.

Opponents say that radiation released into air and water from nuclear explosions threatens man. They are calling for a halt to Plowshare projects until more is known about the long-term effects.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened mixed in moderate trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market's recent pattern of drifting downward has convinced some analysts it may be building a base for a short term rally in the near future. But the low volume of the past four sessions appears to indicate that investors will remain cautious at least until after they have some basis to make a judgement about the direction in which the economy will go in 1970. Most apparently were awaiting President Nixon's State of the Union and budget messages before making that judgement.

Merck & Co. gained 1 to 111½ while Gillette was up ¼ to 44¾. Consolidated Foods lost ⅞ to 38.

Schoharie, Two Other Farms Given Citations

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —Governor Rockefeller Wednesday presented century farm citations to three New York State farms with a total of 478 years of agricultural history.

The governor presented the citations at the annual New York State Agricultural Society luncheon to:

—The Embar Farm, Schoharie County, which began over 112 years ago. The farm is presently owned by Roger and Grace Barber, and its 300 acres are devoted to vegetables and milk cows.

— The Earl Farm, Otsego County, traces its history 170 years. The 325-acre site is now owned by Don and James Earl, both dairymen.

— The La Rue Farm in Saratoga County was begun in 1774. R. Nelson La Rue now operates the 20-acre dairy and corn farm.

The society, holding its 139th annual meeting, reelected all officers and directors. Morton Adams of Alton, Wayne County, is president and Max V. Shaul of Fultonham, Schoharie County, is chairman.

Accountants Meet

The National Association of Accountants, Mid-Hudson Chapter, will meet Monday, at the Hellenic Center, Poughkeepsie. Captain Leonard B. Hartung, United States Navy Reserve, will discuss "PERT Cost." The dinner meeting scheduled for 6:30 p.m. will be preceded by a social hour beginning at 6 p.m.

The Mid-Hudson Chapter NAA, a member of the largest organization of accountants in the world, is currently being led by Richard L. Hall of Poughkeepsie. Hall is manager of General Accounting Department-Systems Manufacturing Division, International Business Machines Corporation.

Growing Trend Across U. S. for Sunday Store Sales

NEW YORK (AP) — It's Sunday and the cash registers are ringing in Larry Voet's supermarket, but to him they don't have the same musical chime as on weekdays.

"I don't think anybody likes working on Sundays," Voet said watching a woman squeeze a head of lettuce then toss it back on the pile.

Like it or not, Voet, manager of an Albers supermarket in Cincinnati, and other retailers across the nation are faced with a growing trend to remain open on Sundays.

"Our store stays open only because others are open . . . it's a chain reaction," he said.

Even old-line department stores—pressed by competition and an apparent demand by shoppers for a place to buy on weekends—are staying open on the traditional day of rest.

"Our stores will remain open only in areas where our major competitors . . . keep their stores open . . ." said a J. C. Penney spokesman.

Penney, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck experimented with Sunday sales in some stores for the first time late last year and say they intend to continue the practice.

Sunday has a marked advantage to some shoppers.

Husbands who commute between suburb and city can accompany their wives to help make decisions on major purchases, and excursions through rambling department stores take the form of Sunday outings for the whole family.

One-car families and working wives like Sunday shopping, reports a Food Fair market manager in Los Angeles. Business is "especially heavy Friday nights and continues through the weekend," when the car is available, he said.

But opening either large or small stores on Sunday is not as simple as it might seem.

The extra work day is expensive and can cut into the profits from increased sales—if they do, in fact, increase.

And many states have "blue laws." These are so called because the severe moral dictates of 18th Century Connecticut Puritans were bound in a blue book. The blue laws restrict sales of many items on the Sabbath.

Blue laws have been modified over the years and frequently have been the center of legislative controversy.

In Kentucky, for example, it is legal to buy a glass of milk on Sunday, but not a full bottle. You can buy a cooked hamburger but not a frozen one.

In Massachusetts food may be sold only by farmers or stores which during the week employ not more than three persons, including the owner.

In spite of blue laws, some merchants have been determined to open on Sundays, with varying results.

In Hopkinsville, Ky., for example, the S. H. Kress Co. was recently fined $50 for violating the state's Sunday closing law. A similar charge against Big K, a discount store, was dropped

Sunday sales of general merchandise in Ohio are prohibited, but they continue.

"Nobody enforces the law, I guess because it's an unpopular one," said John C. Young, city attorney for Columbus. "They tried to enforce it . . . about five or six years ago . . . went through 20 to 30 cases . . . but there was so much pressure from the business community, they finally stopped enforcing it."

Al Materi, of Bismark, N.D., challenged the city's Sunday closing ordinance and his grocery store—which has six employees—was closed down.

"I did 25 per cent of my weekly volume on Sunday," Materi said.

However, the ordinance modeled after North Dakota state law allows groceries operated by not more than three employes to remain open on Sundays.

Retailing officials worry, too, about the effect of Sunday work on the attitude of employes.

"Being open on Sundays makes the retail business unattractive to current and prospective employes," said a Harrisburg store manager privately.

Some shoppers, however, are almost vehement about doing away with laws that prohibit the sales.

"It's ridiculous when you aren't allowed to make an honest living on Sunday or any day. Our flag is on the moon but we still have laws which keep mothers from buying milk on Sunday," said Mrs. Mildred Peck of Louisville.

Strong sermons were preached against Sunday openings recently in Alabama when it appeared Sears Stores might test the constitutionality of the state law permitting sale only of only "essenial" items.

Sears did not open there, and P. L. Balden, Sears manager in Birmingham, says the company has no plans to open now

The Southern Baptist Convention in that state passed a resolution that called upon its members to patronize stores that "Observe the Lord's Day." Rev Oley C. Kidd of the 103,000 member Birmingham Baptist Assn. said the resolution "by inference" called upon Baptists not to trade with stores that might attempt Sunday openings.

Orthodox Jewish groups in particular have pressed for change in the blue laws. The Jewish Sabbath is Saturday.

Blue laws in some states like Pennsylvania and Texas, provide that members of faiths which observe the Sabbath on a day other than Sunday can open as long as they close one other day in the week.

First Aid Squad Installs Slate

KERHONKSON

Officers were installed at the fifth annual installation dinner of the Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad Sunday night at Rubin's Hotel.

They were President Wayne Kelder, Vice-president Doris P. Schoonmaker, Secretary Lee Previll, Treasurer Evelyn Davis, Captain Gary Miller, Assistant Captain Stanley Lawrence, Lieutenant Floyd Countryman Jr., Financial and Corresponding secretary Esther Yeager.

Also director of personnel Seymour Pacht; historian Ann Morgan; sergeant Amy Krom; building supt. Wilbur Wright; and directors May Davis, Justina Ortlieb and Gilbert Quick.

Captain Wayne Morris reported that 217 calls were made during 1969. The crews volunteered 1247 hours of service in traveling 7,727 miles.

Next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 26.

Court Desegregation Ruling Causes Much Dismay in South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

School officials have reacted with dismay to a U. S. Supreme Court ruling which ordered the desegregation of public schools in 14 districts of five Southern states by Feb. 1.

"Physically speaking, I think it is an almost impossible task," said Supt. M. Ney Williams of East Feliciana Parish, La., one of the districts involved.

The decision, handed down by the court Wednesday on a 6-2 vote, reversed a ruling last Dec. 1 by the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, which gave the districts until Sept. 1 to desegregate.

"I don't know how we are going to do it in less than three weeks," Williams said.

Bessemer County, Ala., School Supt. William F. Clark said he had "no earthly idea how the school system can completely mix by Feb. 1."

In Marshall County, Miss., Supt. Stanley Malliken Sr. said his district could make the changes in time, "but it's going to tear up almost all phases of our school program." He said he thought the public school system "will be all black, except in one area of the county."

A crowd estimated by police at more than 1,000 marched on the home of U. S. Dist. Judge W. A. Bootle in Macon, Ga., Wednesday night, carrying a petition asking for the preservation of neighboorhood schools and freedom of choice integration plans.

Two representatives of the group were admitted to the judge's home. Bootle told them he will read and consider the petition along with four other Bibb County school plans that have been filed in his court.

Four hundred Bibb County teachers have been ordered to transfer by Feb. 26, but officials say these teachers will have to be given new transfer orders because the Supreme Court decision will mean more extensive desegregation.

The districts involved in Wednesday's ruling are Marshall County and the Jackson and Holly Springs municipal districts in Mississippi; Jefferson, Bessemer and Mobile counties, Ala.; Burke, Bibb and Houston Counties, Ga.; Bay and Alachua counties, Fla., and West Feliciana, East Feliciana and Concordia parishes, La.

About 300,000 students are affected.

A source at the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said the Feb. 1 date also will apply to 17 more districts which had previously been told they would be subject to whatever order the Supreme Court issued in the 14-district case.

Brandt's Address to Nation Will Get Some Close Scrutiny

BONN (UPI) — Opposition leaders say they will closely question Chancellor Willy Brandt on his state of the nation address in which he proposed new talks with East Germany with an unlimited agenda.

Parliament opened a two-day debate today on Brandt's address, made Wednesday before the legislative body.

Kurt George Kiesinger, who headed the West German government until he was forced into the opposition by last fall's election results, said Wednesday night Brandt's report contained unclear and questionable passages.

In a radio interview in which he was speaking as the leader of the Christian Democratic Party, Kiesinger said lapses in Brandt's report gave him cause to "ask precise questions to which I hope to receive precise answers."

Brandt told parliament West Germany is prepared to sign binding agreements with East Germany to improve practical relations but is unwilling to consider East Germany as a "foreign" state. West and East Germany are states of a single German nation, he said.

Brandt proposed negotiations with an unlimited agenda in which East and West Germany could raise any question. Basis for the talks would be a proposed agreement for renunciation of the use of force, he said.

President Walter Ulbricht of East Germany has countered Brandt's offer of an agreement on the renunciation of the use of force with a demand for Bonn recognition of East Germany as a sovereign state.

Brandt said other Communist nations of Eastern Europe do not share Ulbricht's demands.

He said the fact the East Germans "are turning somersaults to make ever new demands" on Bonn is one of the main obstacles to initiation of talks.

Brandt advised the German people against expecting early unification of their nation and counseled West German politicians to avoid promising otherwise to their voters.

White Priest Refuses To Leave Black Area

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A white Roman Catholic priest who twice in two years refused new assignments because they would have removed him from work with inner-city blacks has resigned from the active ministry.

The Rev. William G. Warthling, 33, said Wednesday he would continue to teach and work with residents of Buffalo's core area but would be unable to exercise such priestly functions as celebrating mass or hearing confessions.

In a letter of resignation to the bishop of the Buffalo diocese, the Most Rev. James A. McNulty, Father Warthling accused the prelate of pushing for "elimination of would - be dissenters.

"The apathy in our diocese is a symptom of the further ruin that is to follow if this ongoing process of polarization and elimination of would-be dissenters is continued," the priest wrote.

He predicted the church would "vanish" if "deprived of leadership and support of creativity."

Father Warthling said he had been willing to negotiate with the bishop but there was no response. "I think a bishop must be in contact with his priests and listen to them," he commented.

Father Warthling, who was ordained five years ago, refused two years ago to leave St. Nicholas' parish in a predominantly negro area of Buffalo for an all - white church in suburban Cheektowaga.

Last week, he refused to report as directed to St. Teresa of the Infant Jesus Church in Niagara Falls.

He said Wednesday that both assignments would have taken him "too far away from the core area, where most of my work is. I couldn't afford to leave."

For the past two years, Father Warthling has taught English at a Catholic girls' high school in Buffalo while on leave of absence from a church assignment. Bishop McNulty told him Dec. 31 that he would be suspended because of the lengthy leave.

Father Warthling has been active in BUILD, a militant civil rights coalition in Buffalo, and he said his transfer to Cheektowaga had been ordered because the bishop did not approve of his associating with it.

Ashokan Girl's Wedding: A Real Cinderella Story

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

ASHOKAN

It wasn't young "Peaches" Browning and her husband, Edward W. ("Daddy") Browning, because the bride was young and beautiful and the groom was young and handsome.

And it wasn't a royal romance in the vein of King Edward VIII of England and Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore because the groom's kingdom was founded on a bread spread and not on the dignity of the throne.

And it wasn't "No. 1 Glamour Girl" Brenda Frazier and bridegroom, John S. ("Shipwreck") Kelley because the bride was from Ashokan, not Manhattan and the groom was an aspiring recording star, not a football great.

A New Cinderella

But it was the closest thing to the Cinderella legend since Bobo Rockefeller left a coal mining town in Pennsylvania to marry millions.

The girl with the glass slipper in this case was Renee Louise DuBois, 20, born and raised in Ashokan, and just back from a Montego Bay, Jamaica, honeymoon with her multimillionaire husband of nine days.

Renee, now Mrs. Michael James Brody, and her groom, heir to the Jelke oleomargarine millions, arrived in New York from the Caribbean over the weekend in a 140-passenger jet chartered just for them at a price tag of $7,954. The 21-year-old Brody, who plans to give $50 million away to foundations and other charities in the next few months, flew Renee to tropic climes economy class; came back jet set first class to corral publicity on his giveaway plans and hopes to meet with President Nixon to discuss peace on Vietnam and other battlefronts.

Brody inherited $25 million when he reached voting age last October; met his bride a month ago this week at a New York party. The jet just for them drew the television and newspaper publicity he wanted; also uncovered a Cinderella story that captured the imagination of the world.

Class of '66

Renee DuBois, who says she shares her husband's goals, the future should be a far cry from th past. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen DuBois of Ashokan, she attended elementary school at West Hurley; graduated from Onteora High School with the Class of 1966 just prior to turning 17.

This should be the point in the story where the writer refers to the senior yearbook prediction under the graduation picture; finds that it promises riches and fame for the future. But Renee's photograph is missing from her yearbook, and beneath the blank space reserved for her, only her name and address is listed.

She was, however, a "good student who won a scholarship," according to her mother, and who graduated in three years. Exceedingly pretty and with the waiflike look esteemed in the fashion world, she gave up college and summer work on the assembly line at Rotron, Inc. in Woodstock for modeling in Manhattan. She left home at 18, says her mother; had been living and modeling in New York (a career she never totally enjoyed), before meeting Brody, who less than two months earlier had inherited his multimillions from his late grandfather.

How do the bride's parents feel about the marriage? Says her mother, Peggy DuBois, who is still employed at Rotron, "We like it. She has always been to us a 'special child, and we want her happiness above anything else." But having a daughter who married into millions has meant bearing the brunt of good-natured joking for herself and her husband, a state employe with the Department of Transportation. "Both of us got needled at work about why we weren't retiring immediately," she said, "and there was constant teasing about whether we would deign to talk to our old friends now."

Was Yule Visitor

Renee's parents have met their daughter's new husband; entertained him during a Christmas visit. They were a "little scared" by all the publicity, but feel relieved now that the couple has settled into seclusion in Scarsdale, probably the wealthiest suburb in America.

Renee's brother, Roger, wasn't available to comment on how it feels to have a multimillionaire in the family. He's away visiting friends in California. But ex-schoolmates and working acquaintances remember her as "very pretty," "very nice," "rather studious-appearing," "a good skier," "interested in art," "a girl who loved to read," "a whiz on tests without cracking a book, but sometimes bored with regular classwork," "sweet and wispy-willowy," "not your typical teenager."

"Now that the publicity's over," says her mother, "Renee would more or less like to settle down, although she does agree completely with Michael's plans for giving money to the poor . . . It's just that she isn't so much for the publicity as he is."

Brody, son of Michael James Brody of Scarsdale, vice president of Columbia Corrugated Container Corp. on Long Island, has said that he "wants to cure the problems of the world;" is convinced "other people need money a lot more than I do;" hopes other millionaires will join him in giving huge sums to foundations and good deeds.

Wants Dual Career

But he also wants a family, a farm in Connecticut, and a career as a movie maker and recording star. Matter of fact, between enjoying steak and Cornish game hens with champagne aboard that Pan American Airlines Boeing 707, he played a guitar and sang for Renee and the four stewardesses on the homebound honeymoon flight.

That old saw about "you can take the girl out of the country, but you can't take the country out of the girl" has rust on its blades today. Renee DuBois Brody left what is not much more than a dot on the map in the Catskills and married into millions shortly thereafter. Then she went up in the air with her heir for a flight that made romantic history. And, by the end of her first week of wedded bliss, she helped him spend $60,000 (gifted to a college for an outdoor track), $25,000 (tips for the staff at their Jamaica honeymoon resort), and $7,954 (toll on the charter jet for just we two).

Renee DuBois Brody is one Cinderella who doesn't even need a fairy godmother. Only a year out of her teens, she's already gone from winding motors on an assembly line to winding a handsome young millionaire around her third finger, left hand.

Happy Pose

Michael James Brody Jr. and his bride, the former Renee Louise DuBois of Ashokan, display a radiant pose aboard the Pan Am 707 jetliner he chartered to fly back to New York from Montego Bay, Jamaica. They flew to Jamaica economy class on round-trip tickets and Brody paid $7,954 for the return trip with a crew of six. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

MR. AND MRS. PAUL RAKER of 60 Woodlawn Avenue, Naugatuck, Conn., were guests of honor at a family party hosted by Mr. Raker's sister, Phyllis Massa, at 175 Tammany Street, Kingston, in observance of the couple's retirement from U. S. Rubber Company after a combined accumulation of almost 83 years service. Mr. Raker started work for U. S. Rubber Company in 1928 as a stock boy for 28 cents an hour and is credited with 40 and one-half years of service. His wife Carol who began with the company in 1926 is credited with 42 and one-quarter years service. Both were presented with service awards. Mr. Raker received a watch and his wife was given a wall clock. Mr. and Mrs. Raker had been employed in Williamsport, Pa., but due to the depression in 1932, were forced to transfer to Naugatuck, Conn. The Naugatuck plant was one of only two in operation during the depression and they remained there for the remainder of their employment. Officially retired as of Dec. 24, 1969, the couple will leave for their winter home in Florida on Jan. 30. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

HVPS Will Raise Funds Throughout the County

The January meeting of the Ulster County Council, Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Ickes in Kingston.

Attending were: Miss Margaret Beal, the Rev. David Bronson, Mrs. C. Lincoln Christensen, Mrs. Walter Hutchins, Ward Ingalsbe, James Kaman, Mrs. Richard Messina, Harry Matzen, Mrs. Amos Newcombe, Mrs. Norman Rafalowsky, Mrs. Stephen Waligursky, Allan Atherton, and Robert Winrow. Norman Rafalowsky, President of Ulster County Council, presided.

Miss Margaret Beal reported advance ticket sales for the Chamber Music Series by the Monteux Chamber Players are well underway. Series tickets are $5 per person, individual concert tickets are being sold for $3 each. The concert series will be held in the Church of the Holy Cross, Pine Grove Avenue, Kingston, on Saturday, Jan. 17, and February 28 at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served after the concerts.

Allen Atherton, chairman of the Sustaining Fund Drive in Ulster County, briefed board members on progress made to date. Many activities are being planned by drive volunteers for January and February, he said. A joint meeting of all volunteers working in Ulster County for the Sustaining Fund Drive will be held January 19 in the church hall of the Church of the Holy Cross on Pine Grove Avenue. Anyone who wishes to contribute time and talents to this major fund drive is cordially invited to join the group at this meeting.

Mr. Atherton, and his volunteers are preparing to launch a county-wide effort in February soliciting both personal and business contributions for HVP.

More than 125 people have given of their time and energy. Robert Winrow, subscription chairman in Ulster County, has taken on the additional job of chairman of orchestra, is directing the personal solicitations drive in Kingston.

New Paltz, Saugerties, Woodstock and Hurley will be centers of activity also. The Saugerties group has already turned in the proceeds of a chamber concert chaired by Mrs. Alfred Sweet and a rummage sale organized by Mrs. Ernest Blake, Mrs. Robert Kraft and Mrs. William Peetoom.

Among the fund raising activities that are being held around the county will be a private benefit concert on January 16 in New Paltz by Claude Monteux, Philharmonic director. February 21st is the date set for the First Annual Philharmonic Ball and art auction in New Paltz and February 22 is the tentative date for a concert featuring Luis Garcia-Renart, first cellist of the orchestra. An art auction is also in the planning stage.

Hurley will hold a teenage dance, and the little Gardens Club is donating proceeds of their Flower Arranging "learn-in" and luncheon to be held at the Hurley Church.

The goal for three counties, Ulster, Dutchess and Orange, is $75,000. Ulster's share is $20,000. Ticket sales, as well as the Special Fund raising projects planned by the Boards of Directors in the three counties cannot raise enough money to meet all the operating expenses of the orchestra. This situation exists for all major orchestras.

In addition to the Special Fund raising projects and the Sustaining Fund Drive, the Ford Foundation gave the Philharmonic a grant of $250,000 in 1966 with the challange that Philharmonic supporters match that grant by 1971. So in the midst of the sustaining fund drive, a second group of volunteers headed by Mrs. Sydney Miller of Poughkeepsie, will try to match that grant. To date, the Philharmonic requires less than $30,000. If this grant is matched it will build an endowment fund of $500,000 for Philharmonic.

The Board of Directors is also planning a special project to coincide with the fund drive. Philharmonic will benefit from the opening day's performances of "Funny Girl," Wednesday, Feb. 4 at the Community Theatre in Kingston. Philharmonic tickets will be $2 for either the matinee or the first evening performance. Anyone wishing to purchease tickets in advance may write to Box 1, UPO, Kingston, or may contact any board member.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM DuBOIS SR. of Wiltwyck Garden Apartments, Kingston, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at VFW hall, this city, on Sunday, Jan. 11. Married Jan. 10, 1920 at the Trinity Methodist parsonage in Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. DuBois are the parents of three sons, Neil, Donald and William Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Carol) King. Twelve grandchildren were present at the event. Another grandson, Joseph DuBois, sent best wishes from the Pacific where he is serving in the U. S. Navy. Many nephews and nieces from California; Poughkeepsie; Pleasant Valley; Hoboken, N. J. and Kingston were also in attendance. Toastmaster for the happy occasion was Gary DuBois, oldest grandchild. Approximately 70 relatives and friends attended the gala. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Scout Leadership For Girls Slated For This Month

Leaders of Girl Scout troops in Ulster County Council will have a chance to learn more about leadership skills and what it takes to be a good leader by signing up for a training event called Exploring the Job of Girl Scout Leadership.

There will be a choice of either day or evening sessions. Evening sessions will start Monday, Jan. 26, and will be held at the Fair Street Reformed Church in Kingston. Daytime sessions begin Wednesday, Jan. 28, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and will be held in the Joe Deyo Room of New Paltz Savings Bank. reservations for the course are due in the Council office by January 21.

The course will be based on the skills a leader needs in order to do a good job, and include: UNDERSTANDING GIRLS AS INDIVIDUALS: USING THE GIRL SCOUT PROGRAM ON EACH AGE LEVEL: HELPING GIRLS WORK TOGETHER AS A GROUP: HELPING GIRLS LEARN THROUGH ACTIVITIES: TROOP MANAGEMENT THROUGH THE PATROL SYSTEM OR BROWNIE PING: PERSON-TO-PERSON RELATIONSHIPS WITH GIRLS AND ADULTS: WHERE TO FIND AND HOW TO USE RESOURCES: I ERSONAL VALUES FOR MYSELF AND THOSE I WORK WITH: THE WORLD AROUND US AND HOW THIS AFFECTS MY LEADERSHIP JOB: THE GIRL SCOUT ORGANIZATION. Each leader will have the opportunity to decide for herself which are her areas of greatest interest and need, and then learn more about them through discussion, visual aids, demonstration and sharing what she has learned with other members of the group.

This course is part of an ongoing training plan for self-development for all those working with girls in troops, and is open to both new and experienced leaders and troop committee members, as well as Neighborhood Chairmen, Troop Consultants and Troop Organizers.

Training events such as these are one of the services offered to the 365 leaders who bring the Scouting program to over 3500 girls in 184 troops in this council.

Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

READY TO TRY NEW ENTERTAINING IDEAS?

Everyone likes to entertain in an original way, to get away from the usual cocktail party, cocktail-buffet or buffet supper. But before you try a new type of party you should be sure you know what is involved, and what everyone wil' enjoy. This quiz may give you some ideas, and to answer questions that may occur to you.

Brunches

Q. 1. Brunches are held at any hour of the day. True —— False ——

A. 1. False. The word is a combination of breakfast and lunch, and a brunch is held late in the morning, between breakfast and lunch hours.

2. The menu combines breakfast and luncheon dishes. True—— False——

2. True. Cocktails are usually served too — the most popular being "Bloody Marys" (seasoned tomatoe juice and vodka) or "Bullshots" (beef bouillon and vodka).

3. Brunches are generally held for mixed groups. True—False——

3. True. If you wish to have an all-girl party, a simpler "coffee" is a better choice.

Fireside Parties

Q. 1. The meat is cooked on a hibachi or in the fireplace in the living room. True—— False——

A. 1. True. The other dishes are bought in from the kitchen.

2. A fireside party is always held at noon. True—— False——

2. False. It is almost always a dinner held at night because the fare is too heavy for a luncheon.

3. The meal is usually served buffet-style. True—— False——

3. True. The idea is that the guests may spend the entire evening gathered around the fireplace.

Progressive Dinners

Q. 1. Guests at a progressive dinner are limited to couples who each provide one course in their own homes. True—— False——

A. 1. False. The couples planning and giving the dinner may invite as many extra guests as they please.

2. The number of couples planning and giving the dinner is unlimited. True—— False——

2. False. It is best to restrict the courses to three or four houses. Otherwise there is too much climbing in and out of cars, general haste, and confusion.

3. Each host couple pays for the course served in his own home. True —— False——

3. True. Or they may feel it fairer to add up their own expenses and divide the total evenly.

Helpful Hints

CONDITION YOUR WATER

Automatic water conditioning can reduce the homemaker's job load as much as 50 per cent. It also extends the life of pipe and plumbing equipment by eliminating a major cause of corrosion. Another benefit that's often overlooked is the improved taste of tea, coffee and vegetables in conditioned water.

USE COLANDER

A colander can be inverted over a skillet when anything where grease is popping — bacon, chicken etc. Heat escapes but spatters are caught on the colander. This saves cleaning the stove.

Sing-Out Concert

Sing-Out Saugerties will present a two hour concert on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Saugerties High School auditorium.

Entries Number 34 to Date in The Freeman's Third Annual Page One Valentine Contest

Deadline date is approaching on what is probably the only beauty contest held locally whereby the general public selects the winner.

Several new entries have been received at The Freeman for the newspaper's third Page One Valentine Contest, bringing the total to 34 contestants.

Judges have been selected who will choose six finalists from the bevy of beauties and beginning Monday, Feb. 2 the finalists' photographs along with a Freeman ballot will be published daily giving relatives, friends and neighbors an opportunity to vote for the 1970 Page One Valentine Queen. Judges are Bob Palmer, former producer of Tex McCreary-Jinx Falkenburg television programs on NBC, a fashion photographer in New York City and now a general photographer with Studio 54 in Woodstock; Malinda Davis, community organizer, associated with Rondout Neighborhood Multi-Service Center; and Mrs. Louise Breitung, Extension Home Economist, Home Extension Service, 74 John Street, Kingston.

Most recent entries include:

Dawn Fitzpatrick, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fitzpatrick, East Chester Street, Kingston, a senior at Kingston High School, employed part time as secretary at IBM; Susanne Eileen Slater, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Slater, RFD 5, Box 285, Kingston, a senior at Kingston High School, employed at Caldors, Route 9W, Kingston, as part time cashier.

Kathleen G. Nealis, 17 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nealis of 173 Ten Broeck Avenue, Kingston, a senior at Kingston High School; Deborah C. Ham, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ham, Lucas Turnpike, High Falls, freshman business student at Ulster County Community College, employed part time by Green-Hall Insurance Agency, Stone Ridge.

Irene Sickler, 17, daughter of Mrs. Irene Sickler of 274 Linderman Avenue, Kingston, and the late Joseph Sickler, a senior at Kingston High School; Julie McClearn, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. McClearn of Kingston, a senior at Kingston High School; Donna M. Woods, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Woods, 230 Third Avenue, Kingston, a senior at Kingston High School.

Sharon Ann Nerone, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Nerone of 233 Silvertone Lane, East Kingston, a graduate of John A. Coleman High School, attended Richard the First School of Beauty Culture where she studied cosmotology, and is employed by Norman Langlois Enterprises and is a hairstylist at Britts Beauty Salon in Kingston Shopping Plaza; Christina Schacht, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schacht, Route 1, Box 420, West Hurley, a senior at Onteora Central High School.

Among the numerous outstanding gifts to be presented to the Valentine Queen are an ensemble from Jonathan Logan's in New York; a scholarship to the Wendy Ward School of Charm; a $50 U. S. Savings Bond from The Daily Freeman; a gift of a year's subscription to SEVENTEEN Magazine.

Also, a crown from the House of Reynolds in Saugerties, a pants suit from Off-Beat Boutique, 194 Wall Street, Kingston; a gown from Gloria-Jean's Bridals Plus in Port Ewen; shoes from Rowe's, Kingston Shopping Plaza; dinner for two at the Governor's Tavern, Albany Avenue, Kingston.

Civic minded merchants in the area have joined hands with The Daily Freeman in providing additional gifts for the young beauty include: Leventhal's, 288 Wall Street; Thru the Looking Glass, 205 Foxhall Avenue; J. and J. Wig Hut, 203 Foxhall Avenue; Wallace's, Albany Avenue; London's, 33 North Front Street; Schneider's, 290 Wall Street; Cricket Shop, Broadway; Britts, Kingston Shopping Plaza; Flahs, Kingston Shopping Plaza; Valley Casuals, Kingston Shopping Plaza; The Rose Shop, 333½ Wall Street; Hy Greenspan, 246 Pearl Street; Dedrick's Pharmacy, 308 Wall Street; United Pharmacy, 329 Wall Street; Charles Beauty Salon, 304 Wall Street; and Community Theatre, 601 Broadway, all of Kingston.

The third annual contest is open to all single, area, girls between the ages of 17 and 21. Contest rules are published on the Woman's Pages of The Daily Freeman.

Winning Fashions for Needleworkers

By JUDY LOVE

Needleworkers are getting younger all the time, and one reason for the new generation's interest in the craft may be that patterns to knit and crochet are right in step with the latest fashion trends.

Work these three and see.

THREE FASHION WINNERS to knit and crochet for great new looks. The vest and pullover patterns will fit sizes 10-16, and the perky cap pulls on properly to fit all head sizes.

Each is easy, so even the newest needlers can add these fashion accents to their wardrobes. The openwork crocheted vest and quick-knit turtleneck pullover in sizes 10-16 are great go-togethers—but each has a special snap to perk up separates of all sorts. The cap, of course, is great with all sports looks and even with maxi coats.

To receive a leaflet of instructions for all three, using Bear Brand, Fleisher's or Botany yarns, just send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, in care of Daily Freeman, Radio City Station, Box 503, New York, N.Y. Be sure to ask for leaflet S184 and include your name, address and zip code.

KNIT KNACKS

DEAR JUDY: I've just completed a series of strips for an afghan. My problem is to knit them. Each strip is a different color, and I want to avoid showing the yarn used in joining. Can you help?—R. L.

DEAR R. L.: Your best bet is a means of joining called invisible weaving. Believe me, it lives up to the name.

Here's how to do it. Place two pieces which are to be joined right side up and side by side. The edges should touch, but just barely. The weaving is done with a blunt tapestry needle, and the yarn—if thick—should be separated so that you are working with a fine strand.

Begin weaving on the piece placed to the right, inserting the tapestry needle through the center of the first knitted stitch. Draw the yarn through the stitch just below it. After you finish the first stitches, repeat—but pass under two rows of stitches, alternating from side to side.

The yarn should be pulled somewhat firmly for the invisibility that you need.

Qualifer for Nationals

East Junior Nordics Coming to Rosendale

ROSENDALE

The Rosendale Nordic Ski Club will be the host club for a major Junior Nordic competition this weekend when it sponsors races which will help determine the Eastern Junior Nordic team to be sent to the Junior Nationals at Jackson Hole, Wyoming, in March.

In addition to the Junior Qualifying races which will be held at the Williams Lake course Sunday afternoon, there will be ski jumping contests for junior boys in age groups from 10 through 17 in two different locations on Saturday.

Ken Tokle of High Falls, head of the Nordics' jumping program, announced that boys 10 through 13 will compete on the 20-meter hill Milbert's Hill off Route 213, near High Falls Park. The older boys will jump on the 30-meter slide at Williams Lake.

The tournaments are slated to begin officially at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, with the hills open for practice jumps in the morning.

Widespread Entries

Oscar Johnson, chairman of the Rosendale Junior Nordics, has received entries from Lake Placid, Salisbury, Conn.; Brattleboro, Vt., New Hampshire, Beacon and other hot beds of Nordic competition anxious to make the National Team.

The cross country races which begin at 1:30 Sunday will be in age groups for boys and girls. Also on the cross country program's a Torger Tokle competition which introduces a new concept in Nordic competition designed to stimulate interest in children from age 6 up.

The league is named after the legendary Torger Tokle, former national ski jumping champion, and the late uncle of Rosendale's jumping coach, Kenneth Tokle. The league is patterned after the Buddy Werner League in Alpine skiing and after the age group swimming program which has developed so many Olympic champions for the United States. There is no membership requirement or fee for competition in a Torger Tokle League race.

Tremendous Growth

The phenomenal growth in Nordic skiing was evidenced last weekend, when more than 50 relay teams involving more than 200 entries participated in the Hanover, N. H. Invitational Relays.

Rosendale's Nordic Ski Club team of Ed Williams, Weikko Salmela and Anthony Battelle placed 15th in this most highly regarded Nordic classic.

Among the participating units were teams made up of candidates for the National Team from the Biathlon Training Center at Anchorage, Alaska; Eskimo and Indian teams from the Canadian Northwest and teams from all colleges in the snow belt.

The event was won by a team made up of Mike Elliott of Durango, Colorado; Mike Gallagher of Killington, Vt., and John Bower of Middlebury College, who relayed the 30 kilometers in 104 minutes, one second. The Rosendale Nordics negotiated the distance in 120 minutes, 53 seconds.

This weekend the Rosendale Senior Nordics compete in the New Hampshire Championships at Lebanon, N. H.

BAT DAY FOR WILLIE — New York: Willie Mays (L) outfielder for the San Francisco Giants, chats with Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn (C) and former New York Yankee Joe DiMaggio, during reception at hotel here. Mays received "Big Stick" award and an Italian sports car. Earlier, Mays received 600 shares of Adirondack Industries stock — one for each of his life time homers, so far. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Mets' John Murphy Dies; An Original Colonial

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

KINGSTON

Johnny Murphy, the general manager of the World Champion New York Mets, who died of a massive heart attack in Roosevelt Hospital in New York City Wednesday night, was a pitcher for the original Kingston Colonials.

Still a member of the Fordham University varsity baseball team, Murphy used the pseudonym of Johnny McNamara. He was to also use this name when he first broke into organized baseball with Scottsdale of the Mid-Atlantic League in 1928, since he was still on the Ram team.

Murphy was one of a half dozen eastern collegiate baseball stars who played summer ball for the Colonials, who were then widely recognized as one of the nation's strongest independent teams.

With Other Stars

Joining Murphy with the Colonials were the famed Dugan brothers of Holy Cross — Len and Leo — Art Smith, a Columbia University pitcher; Howie Carter and Johnny White, two great metropolitan infielders.

White played under the name of Peters and Carter used the name Fitzpatrick. He is now one of the top libel lawyers with the New York Daily News.

Murphy had a brief trial with the Yankees in 1932, appearing in only two games and rejoined them for good in 1934.

He pitched for the Yankees from 1934 to 1947, helping them win seven American League pennants and six world championships. He was one of the major league's first outstanding relief pitchers and during his 12-year career earned such nicknames as "The Fireman," "Grandma" and "Fordham Johnny."

A Strong Thrower

A strong 6-2 righthanded thrower, Murphy spent all of his time in the big leagues with the Yankees, compiling a 93-53 record and 3.50 ERA. His top attributes were excellent control and a curve ball that literally "rolled off a table."

The Yankees gave Murphy his unconditional release April 23, 1947, but he joined the Boston Red Sox that year, pitching in 32 games with a 2.78 ERA and no record.

Murphy was appointed supervisor of Boston's New England scouting operation by Joe Cronin, now president of the American League, and in October of 1948 he succeeded George Torporcer as director of player personnel. He held that post until 1961, when George Weiss, his former boss in New York, brought him along to the Mets as chief scout when the team was organized in 1961 and in 1964 he was named a vice-president.

Murphy has held the position of Mets' general manager since Dec. 21, 1967, following Bing Devine's unexpected resignation and return to the St. Louis Cardinals. He was a native New Yorker.

OCS Girls Check KHS

PINE HILL

Kingston High School's boy skiers defeated the Onteora High Squad for their fourth straight win Wednesday at Belleayre Ski Center, but the powerful Indian lassie team handed the Maroon girls their first setback.

The Kingston boys won by a margin of 16.7 seconds, with a combined clocking of 272.95 seconds to Onteora's 289.65 seconds.

It was a different story in the girls match, as the Goffredi sisters, Frosty and Terry, and many others fell in a tight flush near the end of the course.

Judy Hevesi of Onteora, one of the area's top female skirs, breezed home first in 52 seconds flat, a clocking that would have put her in third place in the boys division. The OCS girls are unbeaten in four starts.

Carl Lambaca of Onteora led the boys in 51.1 seconds, four tenths of a second ahead of Kingston's Dick Baltz.

Kingston boys swept the next four places behind Lambaca, with Ken Windram (53.0), Bart Dutto (54.1) and Tommy Yonta (56.6) flashing across in that order. Jim Woodard and Pete Fowler also finished in the top ten. On the Onteora side, Mark Graxier (6th), Mark Bailey (8th) and Pete Viola (9th) completed the first ten.

Mary McGrath and Karen Johnson finished 4-5 for Onteora. Chris Davis took sixth place for Kingston, with Onteora's Robin McFadden and Kathy Wallace finishing ahead of Karen Wallace and Linda Qualtieri of the Maroon.

Kingston's male squad again showed great balance with seniors Dick Baltz and Bart Dutto placing first and third for the team. Windram, a junior, took second and Yonta and Woodard rounding out the top five. The girls showed equal balance with skiers from all grades in the top five.

Kingston's next race is against Goshen High at Davos on Monday.

THE RESULTS

| Boys Division | | Girls Division | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Kingston 272:90, Onteora 289.60 | | Onteora 304:20, Kingston 313:80 | |
| 1. Carl Lambaca, Onteora | 51.1 | 1. Judy Hevesi, Onteora | 52.0 |
| 2. Dick Baltz, Kingston | 51.5 | 2. Frosty Goffredi, Kingston | 56.1 |
| 3. Ken Windram, Kingston | 53.0 | 3. Terry Goffredi, Kingston | 58.5 |
| 4. Bart Dutto, Kingston | 54.1 | 4. Mary McGrath, Onteora | 59.7 |
| 5. Tommy Yonta, Kingston | 56.6 | 5. Karen Jansen, Onteora | 60.0 |
| 6. Mark Grazier, Onteora | 57.4 | 6. Chris Davis, Kingston | 65.5 |

| 9. Pete Viola, Onteora | 60.3 | 9. Karen Wallace, Kingston | 66.6 |
| 10. Pete Fowler, Kingston | 60.4 | 10. Linda Qualtieri, Kingston | 67.1 |

NCAA Okays 11th Game

By IRA MILLER

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — How about a game between Penn State and Notre Dame. Or Penn State-Texas? West Virginia-Texas Tech?

These are some of the possibilities opened up now that the NCAA has cleared the way for an 11th regularly-scheduled college football game, beginning in 1970.

Until now, some of these match-ups were possible only in bowl games! if at all, because of schedules drawn 10 years in advance.

But now, teams which know how strong they will be can pick up an added opponent of comparable strength this season.

Or, in the case of West Virginia and Texas Tech, Coach Jim Carlen's old team could get a shot at his new one.

Penn State, of course, had a chance to play Texas' national champions in the Cotton Bowl and vetoed it, but a regular season meeting between the Nittany Lions and Notre Dame would be a natural.

For one thing, it would match two of the nation's finest young coaches, known for their differing styles—"Tie one for Ara" Parseghian and "Go for broke Joe" Paterno.

Penn State and Notre Dame have not met since 1928, when the Irish ended a brief series with a 9-0 victory at Philadelphia. The teams played four times with Notre Dame winning three and the other ending in a scoreless tie.

Paterno earned his reputation by blowing certain victory in the 1967 Gator Bowl with a foolish fourth-down gamble at Penn State's own 15-yard line and ending in a tie. But a year later, Penn State came back to win the Orange Bowl, gambling successfully for a two-point conversion in the final 15 seconds.

In 1969, Parseghian's team put the only blot on Southern California's record, a 14-14 tie, settling for the tie instead of trying a two-point conversion in the fourth period. Penn State beat Syracuse 15-14 with a two-point gamble in similar circumstances.

Notre Dame, college football's glamour team, is a regular on the Pitt and Navy schedules, appears with some consistency on Army's schedule and has played Syracuse within the past several years.

Un-Ranked UCCC Wonders About Selectors

ALL HANDS AROUND—John Carnright (50) of Saugerties High and (51) Jay Hall of Roosevelt High go up for rebound in DCSL basketball game at Saugerties. By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

KINGSTON

On the eve of Ulster County Community College's Saturday night date with tough Post Junior of Connecticut, the team's captain, Jerry Moss, put this whole business of ratings into its proper perspective.

Appraised of the fact that UCCC was not ranked in the top 20 nationally and, worse, wasn't No. 1 in Region XV, the sophomore whiz exploded:

"What do we have to do to get recognition, beat UCLA?" A fair question.

Everybody knows that Jimmy (The Greek) Snyder, the Las Vegas oddsmaker has only missed the last two Super Bowl calls by 57 points. But these Region XV and NJCAA selectors! What papers do they read? What records do they scan?

Indiana Team Leads

The National Junior College Athletic Association's (NJCAA) weekly rating released today has Vincennes, Indiana (14-1) on top with 158 points. Christian College of Southwest (Dallas, Tex.) is runnerup with 156 points and a 17-0 record.

Broome Tech of Binghamton, the only team to beat UCCC this season, has been dropped from its lofty 11th place rating of last week to 17th this time around.

Back at the Ranch

Meanwhile, back at the Region XV ranch, the word leaks out that Suffolk Community of Selden, L. I., is all by itself in the No. 1 spot in the region.

A week ago, UCCC and Suffolk were tied for No. 1. Since then, the only thing the Senators have done is beat St. John's Freshmen, the second ranked frosh team in the nation.

Suffolk, as Region's XV's No. 1 squad, received nine points in the national junior college ratings.

Lake Explains

Bob Lake, the Orange County Community College athletic director and basketball coach, was non-committal about the whole thing. He realizes, like all basketball coaches in Region XV should, that UCCC did smash Westchester Community's 13-game . . . AFTER WCC had upended this same "No. 1" Suffolk squad!

"I am obligated to cast 10 points for the team that is rated No. 1 in the region for the national rankings," said Lake. "It just happens to be Suffolk this week."

The other nine point-spots go to teams throughout the country. Lake said he could conceivably vote all 10 places on his ballot for Region XV, but that wouldn't make sense. Of course it wouldn't, not anymore than Jimmy (The Greek) Snyder's odds on the voting that kept Suffolk on top in Region XV.

Lack of Information

Queried by Jim Massa of The Freeman staff on why Ulster isn't ranked anywhere in the Top 20 nationally, George Killian, executive director of the NJCAA, had this to say over the long distance phone from Hutchinson, Kansas:

"It all boils down to the fact that there is lack of information about the team (Ulster). We receive no reports of scores from Ulster or anything about its record. (Ed. Note: It's about time something was changed in this department).

Killian said the same situation occurred with Christian College of the Southwest in Dallas, Texas. When CCS started supplying up to date statistics and records to all 20 regional directors in the NJCAA, it suddenly zoomed to the No. 2 spot in the national rankings the following week.

Killian is willing to help Ulster get its due recognition. He is sending The Freeman the names and addresses of all 20 region directors and this newspaper will supply them with UCCC's up to date record.

After hearing accounts of Ulster's defeat of St. John's Frosh and its seasonal record, Killian felt there was no way Ulster could be kept out of the Top 20, or possibly the Top 10.

South Carolina's towering Gamecocks overcame the Selvy mystique at Furman, but Philadelphia's imposing Palestra cast its spell on Calvin Murphy and Niagara.

South Carolina, the nation's third-ranked college basketball power, came from behind Wednesday night for a 59-56 victory over scrappy Furman, coached by former scoring wizard Frank Selvy and triggered by his youngest brother, Charles, who poured in 22 points.

At Philadelphia, Fran O'Hanlon provided the spark in the closing minutes as Villanova knocked off previously unbeaten Niagara 102-92 in the nightcap of a Palestra doubleheader. Georgetown beat St. Joseph's 89-80 in the opener.

Murphy, the 12th-ranked Purple Eagles' All-American marksman, scored 28 points against Villanova—two under his season average and four less than the winners' Howard Porter.

Ohio University, No. 14 in the country, trimmed Miami, Ohio, 71-61 and 18th ranked Louisville got by Dayton 77-69 in the only other games involving The Associated Press' Top Twenty.

At Greenville, S.C., the Gamecocks trailed Furman by as many as five points midway in the second half before rallying for their 12th victory in 13 games. John Roche, who hit for 23 points in all, paced the comeback along with 6-foot-10 strong boys Tom Owens and Tom Riker.

O'Hanlon drove for a twisting layup and followed up with two free throws, touching off a Villanova spurt in the last three minutes that handed Niagara its first setback in 12 starts. The Wildcats' gifted guard wound up with 22 points, two more than teammate Chris Ford.

Ohio University, leading 27-26 at halftime, broke away to a 23-point bulge in the second half and breezed past Miami for a 10-2 season mark. Greg McDivitt's 23 points led the Bobcats to their second Mid-American Conference victory against one loss. Bowling Green downed Kent State 73-67 to tie idle Toledo for the MAC lead at 2-0.

Al Vilcheck's three-point play with two minutes remaining broke a 70-70bdeadlock, helping Louisville, 8-2, subdue Dayton for Coach John Dromo's 50th career victory. Vilcheck topped the Cardinals with 20 points while Dayton's Ken May was high in the game with 30.

Seton Hall nipped American University 64-63 at South Orange, N.J., in a wild game capped by a sit-in at center court by black students protesting Seton Hall's cheerleading policies. The students held up the game for 20 minutes after a goal-tending call on Ken House's driving layup with 11 seconds remaining gave the Pirates their winning points.

DUSO Names Committee For Realignment Study

KINGSTON

"Everybody is serious about this. They know we have a problem," said Kingston High School Athletic Director Bill Hurley, upon his return from the Section Nine meeting Wednesday at Central Valley.

He was referring to the appointment of a committee by Section Nine to draw up a plan for realignment of the section's 43 public high schools for athletics.

The appointment of the committee came after a lengthy discussion on Monroe-Woodbury High on the feasibility of realignment. About 25 schools were represented at the meeting.

Section Nine president Nick Mottola, athletic director at Suffern, at whose request the meeting was called, was quick to point out afterward that "nothing definite" has been decided and that the sole purpose of the committee study would be only to solidify the section's stand.

He said the committee, comprising the five officers, three central committee members and two members from each league, will meet Feb. 10 at the Hotel Newburgh.

"They'll try to come up with one idea," said Mottola.

"I think they're serious this time," says Bill Hurley.

Lew Sends Bucks' Stock Up 46 Points

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lew Alcindor, given 10 shares of stock in the Milwaukee Bucks along with the other players, coaches and trainers, is doing his best to increase the value of the stock.

Alcindor poured in a club and Milwaukee Arena record 46 points Wednesday night as the Bucks edged the Los Angeles Lakers 115-113 to move within five games of idle, first-place New York in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Davision with their 16th victory in 18 games.

Wesley D. Pavlon parceled out the 10-share packages from his own majority holdings earlier Thursday, saying they were recognition for superior effort.

Alcindor's effort against the Lakers certainly was superior. He tied the game at 109-109 and 111-111 and then broke a 113-113 with a stuff shot with 12 seconds left.

His final basket broke the club mark of 45 points held by Flynn Robinson. The old Arena mark was 44 by Jerry West, who scored 34 Wednesday night.

In other NBA action, San Francisco nipped slumping Western-leading Atlanta 103-101, Seattle thumped Philadelphia 122-110 and Boston took Detroit 123-118.

Dallas walloped Pittsburgh 130-116, Carolina downed New York 112-107 and Washington trounced Los Angeles 134-117 in the American Basketball Association.

Two foul shots by Jeff Mullins and one by Al Attles of San Francisco in the last 86 seconds sent Atlanta to its fifth straight defeat and cut the Hawks' lead to 4½ games over idle Chicago. Dave Gambee paced San Francisco with 24 points. Joe Caldwell got 33 for Atlanta.

Seattle beat Philadelphia for the fifth straight time in the first game of a doubleheader at Boston as Dick Snyder collected 26 points and Dorrie Murrey 23.

Darrell Imhoff scored 25 for Philadelphia, and Billy Cunningham added 23 before leaving the game with an ankle injury in the fourth quarter.

Boston took advantage of foul shooting to beat Detroit hitting on 10 of 11 free throws in the final quarter while the Pistons could make only seven of 16 during the same period.

Ranger Rally Routs Toronto Leafs, 7-1

TORONTO (UPI) — Rookie right wing Bill Fairbairn and defenseman Arnie Brown each scored two goals as the New York Rangers trounced the Toronto Maple Leafs 7-1 Wednesday night.

The Rangers also received goals from Rod Gilbert, Bob Nevin and Dave Balon.

The Leafs' only score came in the first period when center Dave Keon scored his 16th goal on a pass from Bob Pulford. Pulfords assist was the 300th of his National Hockey League career.

The Rangers took a 3-1 lead into the third period and iced the victory with four more goals.

Gilbert started the onslaught when his quick wrist shot beat Bruce Gamble. Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin picked up his second assist of the season on the play.

The Leafs replaced Gamble with Gerry McNamara at 6:44 of the third period with the score 5-1. McNamara, who last played pro hockey eight years ago, drew the ire of the 16,455 fans when he alllowed the first two shots taken by Brown and Balon to beat him. McNamara, 36, has been playing amateur hockey and is currently on a five-game pro tryout.

The Rangers' victory snapped a six-game Toronto unbeaten string.

In other games Wednesday, the Montreal Canadiens overcame a two-goal deficit to beat the Los Angeles Kings, 4-2; the Minnesota Stars snapped a 13-game winless skein by belting St. Louis Blues, 5-2 and the Chicago Black Hawks blanked the Pittsburgh Penguins, 5-0.

Tony Esposito, the Chicago rookie goalie, collected his ninth shutout of the season and now stands only three blanks away from the NHL record held by Glenn Hall, with virtually half a season still left to play.

SOMETHING'S CAUGHT the eye of Ulster Academy's new ski coaches Phil and Gordon Davenport, who are seen with Jane Davis and Craig Moss, a couple of hopefuls for UC's first regular sports varsity.

First Ski Varsity At Ulster Academy

KINGSTON — Ulster Academy will institute skiing as its first regular varsity sport, Athletic Director Dee Winter has announced.

Fourteen skiers with varying degrees of experience reported for the first formal workout at Belleayre Ski Center where the entire student body participates in the sport.

The varsity team will be coached by Gordon Davenport, director of Highmount Ski Center, and Phil Davenport, who recently returned from Australia and is now on the instructional staff at Highmount.

Among the potential boy and girl varsity skiers are: Craig Moss, Jay Levine, Elise Brigham, Marney Sprague, Jane Davis, Barth Davenport, Fred Bright, Ricky Bushnell, Frank Stangarone, Bruce Webster, Eddie Halpern, Gene Berardi, Deacon Nelson and Marcus Gran.

The group includes students from 7th grade through junior year, all of whom have had previous experience in skiing.

Coach Phil Davenport put his charges through an opening day of warmup exercises and then to the top of the run for a workout. The drill involved basic instruction in racing techniques, working with slalom and running the course.

Plans are being made to field a team for the annual Section 9 competition, if the talent develops as quickly as expected. Some members of the squad like Barth Davenport and Jay Levine have had race training and competitive experience, while several other candidates shape up as good prospects.

Aside from skiing, the winter sports program at Ulster Academy is built around basketball and volleyball on the intramural level, using the muncipal auditorium gym and the gym at the Kingston Children's Home.

Six Teams Will Qualify

College Lanes to Host NYSJBA

NEW PALTZ — Brunswick College Lanes on Route 299, New Paltz, will conduct a sectional elimination tournament for the New York State Junior Bowling Association's First Annual Championship Team Tournament.

Brunswick Lanes is one of nine sectional sites which will qualify six teams—three boys and three girls—for the state championships on May 16 at Midway Recreation Lanes in Vestal.

Deadline for sectional entries is Feb. 14. The six classifications are: Boys—Class A, 700 and over; Class B, 601 through 700; Class C, 600 and under; Girls—Class A, 601 and over; Class B, 501 through 600; and Class C, 500 and under.

Roger H. Lee of Pleasant Valley is the Section 8 chairman for the New Paltz eliminations.

The competition is open to all sanctioned American Junior Bowling Congress (AJBC) members in good standing who have not reached their 19th birthday on or before August 1, 1969.

The tournament will be conducted on a team average basis. Teams will be comprised of all boys or all girls with no age division, and will be handicapped at 75 per cent of 900 with entries in the six designated classes.

Plaques will be awarded to the Sectional winners with trophies awarded to the State champions.

Johnson Ford Blasts 1111 Single

SAUGERTIES — The bowling continued red hot in the Bowlers Club Major this week, as Larry Petersen Jr. of Kingston set a new league record of 695, there were 14 series of "600" or better, 3003 team set and an 1111 by Johnson-Ford, second highest team single of the 1969-70 tenpin season.

Rate Knox's Pigeon Best in K-UC Show

PORT EWEN — A Blue Bar Gurney, owned by Frank Knox of LaGrangeville in Dutchess County, won the Best-in-Show and Old Hen Award in the Kingston-Ulster Racing Pigeon Club's annual show here.

The honors won by the Knox pigeon is the highest award given in any show in the country, K-UC officials said.

William Godwin of Ulster Park, a K-UC member, represented the J&W Loft, picked up eight awards, including best-of-class honors in the following categories: Best Young Hen, Best Unflow Hen, Best Color Hen, Best Color Bird. Godwin is a partner in the J&W Loft with a Mr. Nielson.

This year's show was adjudged by many as the best in the club's history. Racing activity in the club resumes with a race from Trenton, N. J. in April.

Monticello Matmen Hand OCS 1st Loss

MONTICELLO — Onteora High School's wrestlers dropped a 35-23 decision to Monticello for its first defeat in three matches.

The Indians scored their points on four straight pins and one decision. Larry Miller the UCAL champ won his third straight by pinning his opponent in the 145 pound class in 5:30. Terry Tougas also scored his third straight win in the 137 pound division in 5:26. Britt St. John scored a pin for the Indians in 2:43 in the 107 pound class.

In the 155 pound division Don Todd tallied a pin over his opponent in 3:38, while John Longling won a 9-2 decision over his opponent in the 130 class. Monticello's record is now 1-4 on the season.

"We just couldn't do too many things right," was the words of coach Joe Friedel of the Indians after they suffered their first defeat of the season.

Ahavath Israel

Religious services are held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, a Conservative Synagogue, at 100 Lucas Avenue, every Friday 8 p.m., Saturday 9:30 a.m. and at sundown, and on every Jewish Holiday.

This Friday 8 p.m., the services will be conducted by Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman, who will deliver the sermon of the week on the subject: The Child Is the Backbone of Judaism. He will be assisted in the prayer readings by Jeffrey Werbalowsky, who will be celebrating his Bar Mitzvah Saturday morning. The liturgy will be chanted by Cantor David Katchen. The Mourners' Prayer will be read for the following yuhrtzeiten which will be commemorated this week: Abraham Alcon, Sam Black, Samuel Dinerstein, Grisha Gorochowsky, Jacob Kinberg, Sarah Raisel Pauker, Anne Schwartz, and Philip Shorr. An Oneg Shabat in honor of the Bar Mitzvah will follow the services.

During the Saturday services, 9:30 a.m., Jeffrey Werbalowsky, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Werbalowsky, will become Bar Mitzvah. In celebrating this occasion, the Bar Mitzvah boy will read part of the religious service, chant the prophetic reading of the week, and will be given his Bar Mitzvah lesson by Rabbi Schectman. Religious books as gifts are presented to the Bar Mitzvah by the Sisterhood of the Congregation, the Kingston Talmud Torah, and the USY, the youth group of the congregation, and a certificate of Bar Mitzvah is presented by the congregation. A Kiddush and lunch in honor of the Bar Mitzvah will follow the services.

The USY will meet this Sunday for religious services at 10 a.m., followed by breakfast and a study session.

A class of the Hurley Church will visit the synagogue this Sunday 11 a.m. for a talk by Rabbi Schectman on the synagogue and Jewish observances.

The Talmud Torah of Kingston will meet on regular schedule next week in the school 100 Lucas Avenue.

Temple Emanuel

Sabbath evening Services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, Friday, 7:30 p. m. The Temple is affiliated with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, the national organization of Reform congregations.

Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn will conduct the services, assisted by Dr. John Park, Temple organist and choirmaster. Rabbi Eichhorn's sermon is entitled. Man's Quest for Meaning.

During the memorial portion of the services, the memories of the following persons will be invoked: Jules Ewig, William Oppenheimer, Delia Newland, Max Forst, Garson Grossman Mores Kirshenblum, Hannah Levitas, Barnett Epstein, and Abram Vogel.

Following services, an Oneg Shabbat will be sponsored by the Temple Sisterhood in the Rabbi Bloom Memorial Hall. The public is welcome to attend.

Rabbi Eichhorn will speak to the Unitarian Fellowship on Sunday morning, 10:30 a. m. at the YWCA. His topic is, "A Liberal Jew Looks at Unitarianism".

Friday evening, Jan. 23, the Temple will conduct its annual Rabbi Bloom Memorial Sabbath Services.

Agudas Achim

All services are currently being held at the site of the new Congregation Agudas Achim synagogue, 254 Lucas Avenue.

Rabbi Howard Gershon and Cantor Herman Slomovits will conduct the shabbat services according to the following schedule. Friday evening: 4:40 p.m., Shabbat services at 8:30 a.m. and 4:40 p.m. Candle lighting at 4:30 p.m.

Services are conducted daily at 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Plans Appeal; Fired Teacher Wore Armband

ADDISON, N.Y. (AP) — A High school teacher who refused to remove a black armband he wore as a Vietnam war protest and who was fired by the Addison Central School Board plans an appeal to State Education Commissioner Ewald Nyquist.

Charles G. James, 41, of Horseheads, said Wednesday a lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU )in New York City was handling the appeal of his firing, which occurred Tuesday.

James, a Quaker who was born in Hornell, said he considered the armband prohibition an infringement on his constitutional rights and that the case would be taken to federal court, if necessary, to gain his reinstatement.

James, an English instructor, joined the Addison Central School faculty on probationary status last September after teaching at a ghetto school in the Bronx.

In ordering him fired, the school board said it considered the armband-wearing "a political act" forbidden by school policy. The board acted unanimously on the recommendation of N. Francis Miller, Steuben district school superintendent, who had been asked last week to study the case.

James first wore the armband to school Nov. 14, Vietnam Moratorium Day, and was suspended for that day only when he refused to remove it.

He wore it again Dec. 12, another anti-war protest day, and was suspended until the board ordered his firing.

Joiners

The regular meeting of Kingston Chapter No. 155 Order of Eastern Star will be held on Friday at the Masonic Temple at 8 p.m. A reception in honor of the newly installed Worthy Matron, Harriet Drake and Worthy Patron, Arthur Aldridge, will be held. All Stars and Master Masons may attend. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Rondout Commandery 52, Knights Templar, has postponed its meeting from tonight to Jan. 28, at which time the annual meeting will be held.

Body in Wrecked Car

LINDLEY, N.Y. (AP) — The body of a 24-year old man was found in his wrecked automoblie Wednesday, several hours after the car struck the rear of a parked truck trailer along a little-used section of old Route 15.

State Police said Steven Osgood of this Southern Tier community apparently was killed about midnight Tuesday. The car was partially wedged beneath the trailer.

Dear Abby

How to Plan Wedding?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have recently become engaged and am in the process of planning my wedding. A problem has arisen about which my mother and I disagree. Let me explain the background:

When I was 16 I got in trouble. The boy ran out on me, but I kept the baby, and with the help of my wonderful family I raised the child. (She is now nearly 5.)

Abby, I want to have the kind of wedding every girl dreams about. My fiance says that he is with me all the way. I want a wedding gown and veil, and bridesmaids and organ music, and I even want my daughter to be my flower girl. It's not like nobody knows about what happened to me, Abby. All my friends and relatives know, and so do his. My mother said it isn't "right." Please help me make up my mind. I know that a wedding gown and veil is supposed to be for a first wedding only, but even tho I am a mother, this IS my first wedding. Would it be so wrong?

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: If you want to have your "dream wedding" and your fiance is "with you all the way," then I vote with you.

However, instead of a stark white gown and veil, I suggest off-white, ivory, or a pale pastel. And please don't think me unkind, but having your daughter for your flower girl would undoubtedly call attention to that part of your life which I think is better deemphasized on your wedding day. Good luck.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think this question is too dumb to answer.

Why are famous women always referred to as "MISS"—regardless of whether they are married or single?

For instance you are called, "MISS ABIGAIL VAN BUREN." I know that's not your real name, but since you are married and have grown children, why aren't you called "MRS. VAN BUREN?"

Also, when Judy Garland died, they were calling her "Miss Garland" until the end, and she had been married several times and had children, too. So why wasn't she called "MRS. GARLAND?"

DON'T GET IT

DEAR DON'T: Yours is not a "dumb" question. It's a very intelligent one. When a woman takes a pseudonym (pen name) for professional reasons, she is always known as "MISS" regardless of her marital status. (This would have been a good question for Miss Amy Vanderbilt, who is also a "Mrs.")

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is quite a talented young artist. She's not "great," but there is a local demand for her paintings, and she has done quite well.

Recently an aunt (my sister) expressed a desire for one of her paintings, so my daughter spent several weeks painting a special picture for this aunt's birthday—as a surprise.

When the gift was presented, the aunt had nothing but criticism for it. "This was wrong, that wasn't right, and the colors weren't good, etc."

My daughter listened to all the criticism, then picked up the painting and said, "If you want a photograph, I'll buy you a camera." My sister was indignant, to say the least.

My daughter sold the painting for $150. The aunt is now threatening to see a lawyer. She says the painting was HERS, and my daughter had no right to sell it. Has my sister a chance to get the painting?

IN THE MIDDLE IN HOUSTON

DEAR IN: I would say that by clear implication, the painting was offered and rejected, so the painting was not your sister's until your daughter had given it to her. However, if this case ever gets to court, anything can happen. (P.S. One thing is certain, your sister will never make the diplomatic corps.)

Horoscope — By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY JANUARY 16, 1970

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Accent on possessions, money, opportunity to obtain genuine bargain. Especially good if you collect art objects, stamps or coins. Be alert. Income potential gets boost.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20): Take initiative. Superiors appreciate your worth. Build your own self-esteem. Don't be satisfied with second best; you can be number one. Realize this and act accordingly.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): You discover secret. Could be key which ends feeling of being alone. Bring to surface natural sense of humor. Give full play to intellectual curiosity.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Trust hunches. Your intuition won't let you down today. Accent on friends, hopes, desires. You could be surprised by lovely gift. Member of opposite sex pays meaningful compliment.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Stress on obligations, responsibilities. Career is in spotlight but takes some twists, turns. Your showmanship is appreciated. But be sure you are familiar with basic requirements.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Journey could be on agenda. Much gain indicated through written word. Solution to problem could be found by reading your paper. Unexpected call, long-distance, could be a highlight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Delve deep into what appears to be mysterious area. And maintain air of mystery, yourself—others will be intrigued. Money regarding estate or property could be coming your way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Lie low—play waiting game. Permit mate, partner to take initiative. Spotlight on how you develop public relations. Don't get involved in foolish dispute—especially one with legal overtones.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Your diet, health, general physical condition deserve attention. Be perceptive. Obtain hint from SCORPIO message. Don't be in too much of a hurry.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Emotions fly high; romance could be featured. But also make some room for logic. Don't rely completely on impulse. You will ultimately have to face yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Property matters continue to demand your time. Spread influence; broaden contacts. Get more than one opinion. You may be slightly angered by individual who is pompous. Maintain self-control.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20): Now you can set up a better program of communications. Relations improve with neighbors, family members. You are versatile, but your forces are less scattered.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a spiritual person. You look deep for meanings not evident on surface of situations, persons. This is a time when you prepare and plant seeds for future development. Don't rush into permanent tie.

(To find out more about yourself and astrology, order Sydney Omarr's 50-page booklet, The Truth About Astrology. Send birthdate and 50 cents to Omarr Booklet, Kingston Daily Freeman, Box 3240, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.)

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SLOPPY BOY: (Q.) My boy friend always wears jeans and sneakers. His hair is never combed. When I first knew him I didn't mind because he worked late and came right over afterward. He says he likes to be comfortable, but it's getting so that I can't stand it.

My parents complain about the way he looks. I want to tell him, but I don't want to hurt him. He's got nice clothes. I've seen them. He just doesn't like to wear them.—Stuck in Oklahoma.

(A.) A mother or a girl friend is often the only one who cares enough about a boy to steer him straight on correct fashion, grooming, and etiquette.

You owe it to yourself and to your boy friend to be honest with him about this. Tell him what you've told me. But be kind when you do.

STRAPLESS: (Q.) I am almost 17 and am going to my very first formal. My best friend offered to let me wear her gown. It's strapless. I tried it on and felt just groovy in it. I don't want to wear any dress but it.

Would it be all right? You see, my right arm is amputated at the elbow.—One Hand, No Straps.

(A.) As long as a special physical characteristic does not make you feel uncomfortable, there's no reason to cover it up. This is true whether it's a mole on your leg, big ears, or an amputated arm.

If you feel self-confident and happy in the dress, wear it and have a good time.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered)

Kent and Lois Wiley of Oak Park, Ill., are one of the really nice couples that play top flight bridge. In 1966 when we won the Mixed Team Championship with Minda Brachman of Dallas and the late Helen Sobel Smith of Detroit, the Wileys were on the team that finished fifth. This year they won the Flight B Mixed Pair Championship.

The remarkable feature of this is that Lois has to use Braille cards, memorize the dummy when it is laid down and carry all this extra material in her head. Here is a gem of defensive play with which the Wileys managed to defeat one of our most famous players at a six no-trump contract.

Six hearts would have been a superior contract but the game was match points and no-trump counts a trifle more. As for the bidding, North's four club call was Gerber, ace request, and South's four no-trump showed three.

Kent opened the king of spades. Lois played the deuce and South won with the ace. Then he rattled off four diamonds to chuck a club from dummy and five hearts to come down to the jack of spades and ace-queen of clubs in his own hand.

Kent could see what declarer was doing and proceeded to discard down to the queen-eight of spades and king of clubs, while Lois whose perception makes up for lack of sight, hung on to all three of her clubs.

At this point declarer could make his slam by simply playing a club to his ace but he tried the other play and led dummy's six of spades, and Kent's two spakes, tricks defeated the contract.

Some Ups and Downs for NBC

NEW YORK (AP) — It was one of those NBC "Multi-Special Nights" Thursday—three programs in rapid succession, each designed to create fun, laughter and a sense of well-being.

The 2½ hours had marked ups and downs, but there was considerable diversity, some pleasant singing and dancing, lots of stars and, once in a while, a chuckle.

Couple of Seasons Too Late

The evening started with a pilot show for a series, "The Shameful Secrets of Hastings Corners," a half-hour comedy that was a parody of "Peyton Place," every soap opera on the air and—in the courtroom sequence—"Perry Mason."

"Hastings Corners" had its moments, but it has arrived a couple of seasons too late: "Peyton Place" and "Perry Mason" have departed into reruns and the daytime soap operas are rarely seen by the male half of the nighttime audience, so the satire was lost.

Next was a pleasant hour of song, dance and wry sketches built around the unpredictability of womankind.

Gene Kelly starred in "The Wonderful World of Girls," strolling easily through his musical numbers and handling the sketches nimbly. He had some very expert help from Barbara Feldon and Ruth Buzzi but the show drooped occasionally because there was little or no unpredictability about the sketch material.

Rowan and Martin followed with a special dedicated to one of television's favorite games, making fun of television. The show kidded, in sketches and blackouts, everything from TV news departments to the commercials.

They, too, had some expert help—Carol Burnett, the Smothers Brothers, Sammy Davis Jr. and cameo appearances by other stars.

One series of blackouts was pegged on the premise that television had changed the course of history: Washington crossed the Delaware in search of a TV repairman, the Titanic changed course in mid-Atlantic to pick up a better TV signal.

The stars, while involved in a lot of costume changing and parts in the sketches, stuck pretty close to their functions in "Laugh-In" and were rarely the cause for much hilarity.

The ABC Explanation

Tuesday night's "Movie of the Week" on ABC ran about 12 minutes short because somebody started the projector for part two of "Foreign Exchange" while several minutes of film were left on the projector unreeling part one.

This resulted in the omission of a big chunk of action in midprogram and panic at the studio when the program unexpectedly ended early. They grabbed a handy reel of film and slammed it on the air.

This viewer thought the sudden movement of plot, while confusing, was just sloppy film-cutting and bad editing. Almost 350 viewers called ABC to ask what was wrong. And two called to congratulate the network on the filler program, a minidocumentary on the Revolutionary War that was never finished.

Instant Replay

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UPI)—Ron Ramsburg was so disgusted with the television fare offered he walked into the studios of Southern Television Co. Friday and dumped his television set on the floor.

Tuesday he was back at the studios, asking to have his set back.

"My wife left me after it went," he explained. He got the set back.

Quick Thinking

LONDON (AP) — The producers of a TV medical program were in a near panic recently when, seconds before they were scheduled to tape a segment about chest complaints, a bronchitis sufferer due to demonstrate symptoms underwent a sudden "cure" under the hot arc lights. Thinking quickly, the subject, 52-year-old Frank Parkinson, suggested a sprint might bring back his complaint. After a short run around the studio he came back before the camera, puffing and wheezing.

GOP Readies Redistricting Proposal

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Republicans drawing the state's new congressional district lines say they are just about ready to unveil their handiwork—a plan that, among other things, would throw U.S. Reps. Daniel Button and Samuel S. Stratton into the same district.

Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges told a reporter Wednesday that he hoped to bring the redistricting proposal to a vote in the legislature next week.

"I believe we've got all the problems ironed out," the Niagara Falls Republican said.

Assemblyman Francis J. Boland Jr., R-Binghamton, chairman of the committee handling the chore, said he would be prepared to make his report on Monday or Tuesday. Under Brydges' timetable, the actual voting on bills would follow on Wednesday or Thursday.

The legislature thus would meet—with several days to spare—the Jan. 30 deadline set by the federal court for enactment of a new plan, to be used in the November elections.

They acted in response to complaints that the 41 districts, as now formed, have too many variations in population. The goal of Boland's committee was to bring each realligned district within one per cent of the average population of 409,324.

During their long months of work, incumbent congressmen and political leaders carped from the sidelines, eager to promote partisan advantage in the reshuffling.

Boland said he believed that both Democrats and Republicans would be reasonably satisfied with the final product.

Among those likely to be discontented, however, are Congressmen Button, the Albany Republican, and Stratton, the Amsterdam Democrat, who would be headed for a direct collision in the November election.

Informed sources reported that the plan places Stratton's home county of Montgomery and nearly all of Button's home county of Albany in the same district, along with Schenectady county.

Each has a well-earned reputation as a determined campaigner. Stratton has been a big winner in normally Republican territory for 12 years, and Button was the giant-killer who broke the Albany Democratic organization's hold on his district in 1966. Neither relishes the prospect of tangling with such a formidable opponent.

The clash could be avoided if either exercised his right to move into another district, as Stratton did in 1962 when his original district was dismantled He moved from Schenectady, where he had served as mayor, to Amsterdam.

Stratton's present district, called the "submarine" because of its unusual shapes, runs across New York State from Montgomery County through the counties of Otsego, Chenango, Cortland, Cayuga, Seneca, Yates and Ontario.

Stratton had told friends that he might move again if he did not like the redistricting.

But Button said he would run from Albany regardless of the composition of the district. His present district takes in Albany and Schenectady Counties.

Another possibility is that Stratton will seek his party's U.S. Senate nomination this year. He has tried for statewide office before but has been unable to win enough backing for nomination.

Forecast More of the Same

Freeman Photographer Robert Haines didn't have to go far to snap this winter architecture — his own home, in fact. And it's all the product of 16 consecutive days of below freezing mercury readings in the Kingston area. The temperature plunged to five degrees below zero this morning but if you think that was bad keep this in mind — forecasters say tonight will be even colder — zero to 20 below.

Bell--No Shift for Ulster

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — Despite reports that congressional reapportionment plans have been completed and "gone to the printers," Assemblyman H. Clark Bell told The Freeman today that "there is no consensus in the Joint Legislative Committee of Reapportionment and as of 5 p.m. Wednesday no bill has gone to the printers."

Bell, who is a member of that committee said that at this time there are several alternate plans concerning the Mid-Hudson Valley, none of which have enough votes to pass the Assembly. He also sais that he foressees no change for Ulster County as part of the 28th Congressional District although consideration is being given to splitting Dutchess County in half and extending Congressman Hamilton Fish's five-county district north to include Otsego and even parts of Montgomery County.

Referring to plans now under consideration, Bell suggested that if there is no compromise and if there are not enough votes by Jan. 31, the matter will be returned to the courts. If this is the case then the court could designate a committee to draw the congressional lines or, due to the time factor, have all 41 congressmen run at-large.

Bell explained that the committee has been functioning since last March, holding hearings around the state and trying to devise workable plans with alternatives. It appears, he said, that in the past few weeks, these plans have been ripped apart again and again because of inability to satisfy those who will vote on the measure.

Tax the Rich Plans-- Little Chance in Albany

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Republicans, who control both houses of the state legislature, have made it plain that any Democratic "tax the rich" reform plans have little chance of approval this year.

The two minority leaders, Assemblyman Stanley Steingut and Sen. Joseph Zaretzki, proposed Wednesday that $400 million be obtained by closing loopholes in higher state income tax brackets. The money would, the Democrats said at a news conference, go to education and transportation aid.

GOP Assembly Speaker Perry Duryea commented that the minority proposals were "the same discredited, shopworn program." Duryea said the program would drive businesses from the state to avoid taxes and make New York "an economic wasteland."

A potential Democratic gubernatorial candidate ventured onto Republican territory Wednesday with a plan, similar to Steingut's and Zaretzki's, to increase state income taxes for the rich. He was promptly blasted.

Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson, expected to announce for the Democratic nomination, proposed at a public hearing in Albany a tax reform plan to raise an estimated $378 million in new revenue.

The Nickerson proposal was to increase state income taxes for persons making more than $33,000 a year. He also proposed a minimum income tax on persons making more than $50,000 a year.

Nickerson said about 320 persons making in excess of $50,000 now pay no tax at all, due to certain exemptions they enjoy. The added revenue, Nickerson said, could go to finance programs such as aid to education.

Republican Assemblyman James T. McFarland, scheduled to talk on his own reform program that includes revision of the highway use tax paid by truckers, instead criticized Nickerson.

"This is a cruel hoax on the people of the state," McFarland said. "This is not tax reform, it is a tax increase.

"Mr. Nickerson's plan will have a disastrous effect on New York State," he said. "It will decrease the attractiveness of doing business in New York State and prevent any immigration of executive and professional talent."

McFarland charged Nickerson listed more than $3 billion in new programs that would be covered by "what turns out to be only a $378 million program."

"New York State now leads all other states in per capita taxes paid. What does Mr. Nickerson want us to do lap the field?" McFarland asked.

Assemblyman Alexander Chananau, D-Bronx, a member of the Ways and Means Committee which was holding the hearing, then asked McFarland:

"Why do you pick on Mr. Nickerson, he's just one person with one proposal."

"Yes, but he has made a statement here, at a public hearing, and Mr. McFarland has a right to react to it," Assemblyman Willis S. Stephens, R-Brewster, committee chairman, answered.

Cairo Plays 'Em Down

By United Press International

Cairo Radio today dismissed the latest Israeli air attacks near the Egyptian capital as "more in the nature of propaganda than of war" and a top government official warned there would be more of them.

A Tel Aviv newspaper Wednesday said Israeli jets had flown within a few miles of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's house in the Tuesday strike against the El Khanka army base nine miles northeast of Cairo.

There was no Egyptian comment on the report. Nasser, who celebrates his 52nd birthday today, was said to be spending a quiet day at his Manchiet el Bakry residence.

Cairo Radio said the Israeli attacks "achieved no military purpose, but were designed to shore up the Israelis' sagging morale."

Government spokesman Esmat Meguid said the raids were an Israeli attempt to escalate the military situation "to achieve political and psychological effects." He said Israel was making a "gross mistake" if it thought such attacks would weaken Egyptian resistance.

Vice President Anwar el Sadat warned Wednesday night that Israel would escalate its air attacks, possibly to include civilian areas. He pledged Egypt would retaliate for every enemy strike.

In Beirut, official Lebanese sources said the government has asked United Nations' help in obtaining the release of 18 Lebanese prisoners held by Israel.

Agnew Runs Into Biggest Protest

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — More than 200 police formed a chain and pushed back about 500 chanting demonstrators today as Vice President Spiro T. Agnew ran into the largest anti-American protest of his 11-nation Asian tour.

Eight persons were arrested and dragged kicking and screaming from the predominantly youthful crowd that demonstrated outside Agnew's hotel, chanting "Go Home Yank" and waving Viet Cong and swastika-painted American flags.

The vice president's motorcade entered through the hotel's exit driveway at the other end of the block, and most of the demonstrators did not know he had arrived until he was safely inside.

Within an hour the crowd dropped off to about 100 persons who periodically chanted and marched back and forth.

Leaders of the protest said they would maintain a vigil outside the hotel throughout Agnew's 42-hour stay, until he flies to Honolulu Saturday.

Those arrested were charged with insulting the police, resisting arrest, using obscene language, and disorderly conduct.

The police said they turned out nearly a third of Auckland's 750-man police force to contain the the demonstration.
